Addressing the conference following the presentation of views by the foreign delegates, Mr. Hughes said:

"There are subjects, it will have been suggested here, which will appropriately be examined by naval experts, and it is the desire of the American government that what has been proposed by that government with the suggestions that have been made by way of modification or amendment or criticism that may be proper, shall all be thoroughly considered, to the end that after the most mature and careful deliberation we may accomplish the great purpose which this conference on the matter has been assembled to achieve."

ACCEPT CUT IN WAGES PENDING NEW AGREEMENT

Arbitration Voted as Peace Measure.

Chicago teamsters' strike will end at dawn today.

In two meetings last night the Chicago Teamsters' union and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs unanimously voted to put an end to the walkout, which in the last two days has resulted in the injury of a dozen men and has caused a score of riots.

The return to work will be made under the $2 weekly decrease in wages announced Oct. 21 and in protest against which the walkout came. The union has been promised an immediate hearing of their claims by Arbitrator Erma Warner of the Sprague-Warner company.

President's Plea Wins.

The meeting of the brotherhood membership, from whence the original strike movement came, was held in Musicians hall, 175 West Washington street. The members—more than 3,000 of them—were addressed by President Patrick Berli.

He told of the progress of the strike, a conference he had held with Arthur Warner over the only manner in which the union had a chance to win its desires in the matter of wages.

His members at first were so unruly that at one time a squad of police stationed on the street below were tempted to invade the meeting.

Berli pleaded with the members for peace and an hour and a half. He spoke of the dangers of a strike in which so much violence occurred; he told of the resentment of the public against such tactics.

Only Chance of Rehearing.

He spoke of the determined announcement of the employers that unless a return to work was made no overtures would be made to the unions and no prospect of a rehearing on the wage question could be seen.

From criticism and openly voiced enmity the comments of the audience gradually turned to praise. The vote to return to work had but one line dissent.

At I. W. Hall, 119 South Throop street, officers of the Chicago Teamsters' union were uttering a like plea to their membership.

They told of the agreement they had entered into and the necessity of living up to it.

Sees Open Shop Threat.

"There are enough nonunion men in this town to fill the job of every teamster out on strike," Secretary-Treasurer Michael Galvin told them.

"There are enough police, too, to keep you away from the wagons when they are operating. If you think you can force your employers, with the great numbers of unemployed at the present time, to do as you wish you're mistaken."

Riots Mark Walkout.

Shots were fired, bricks were thrown, nonunion drivers were eluded, wagons were overturned, and general disorder ensued yesterday in a series of riotous scenes when several of the teaming companies, led by the H. O. Willitt company, attempted to man their wagons with strikebreakers employed by a private detective agency.

Policemen engaged in escorting a caravan of twenty-five Willitt wagons from the Chicago and Northwestern station to the barns were fired upon by strikers at Cass street and Grand avenue. At first the police did not fire back. When the fire was resumed the caravan was under the Michigan avenue viaduct the police drew their revolvers and let loose a fusillade. The mob hastily departed.

One Victim May Die.

Frank White, a motorcycle policeman, was struck on the shoulder by a flying brick. William B. Kile, 30 years old, 4612 Prairie avenue, received a fractured skull from another brick and may die. Earl G. Harper, 621 North Troy street, and Arthur Lauer, 26 years old, 4142 West Madison street, alleged brick throwers, were arrested.

In the early morning there was a half hour riot at State street and Grand avenue when several Willitt wagons were attacked by strikers. In other parts of the city similar scenes occurred.

Records Show "Skeleton" of J. K. Stewart

Litigation over the $5,257,343 estate left by the late John K. Stewart, founder and president of the Stewart Manufacturing company and the Stewart-Warner Speedometer company, yesterday bared a "family skeleton." Search of records of the Surrogate court in Riverhead, L. I., in which one of the two wills made by the Chicago millionaire was filed, revealed that his name was really Terence O'Brien. Under this name he had been a mining prospector in the west, always without much success.

From prospecting O'Brien turned his hand to clipping horses, following county fairs. In Seattle he met Arthur and Michael Conlon. Together they invented a horse clipping machine. This contained a flexible shaft, which served as the basis of future automobile accessory appliances.

Soon Brings In Big Profits.

This shaft was patented by O'Brien by a lawyer named Stewart and soon it began to pay large profits. It was placed on the market as the John K. Stewart speedometer, the name of the lawyer furnishing part of the title and that of a race horse, "John K.," furnishing the remainder.

O'Brien later decided to adopt as his own the name of the device he had placed on the market, and from that time on was known as John K. Stewart.

With the acquisition of his fair fortune O'Brien, now known as Stewart, left the west and moved to Chicago, introduced the speedometer and soon his wealth grew to great proportions. He purchased a residence at 3277 Sheridan road and bought a mansion at Centre Point, L. I., to which he later moved with his wife and two daughters, Marion and Jean.

He was in his early '40s when he died, leaving an estate of five to seven millions.

Eccentric in Handling Money.

Both Stewart and his widow, who died nine months after him, were eccentric in handling money. First a clerk in the office of the Speedometer company discovered some deposit slips on Chicago banks calling for $1,000,000 which it was not known that Mr. Stewart possessed. This money was found in six banks and turned into the estate. Shortly afterwards Leander H. La Chance, now chairman of the board of directors of the Stewart-Warner Speedometer company, and trustee of the Stewart estate, received a bill for $750 for the rent of a safety deposit vault of which he knew nothing.

In the safety deposit vault $250,000 more was discovered. At another time a suitcase which Mrs. Stewart carried around the country with her, contained $100,000 in gold certificates rolled out. This suitcase also contained $250,000 in certified checks. The suitcase had been carried around the country without the knowledge of the country with-out more than the usual care.

One Daughter Inherits All.

The fortune left by Stewart was originally divided between his two daughters, but Jean died Oct. 10 last, while still a child. Marion married Robert B. Honeyman Jr., of New York City, and inherited the entire estate.

It was her action in filing, through her father-in-law Robert B. Honeyman, a New York lawyer, a suit charging incompetence and general mismanagement against Mr. La Chance of Chicago and Martin Taylor of Nassau, L. I., that led to the discovery of the romance of her father's career. La Chance and Taylor yesterday obtained from New York courts an order directing Mrs. Honeyman to show cause why they should not be appointed administrators of the estate of Jean.

Mr. La Chance refused last night to add anything to the statement he gave THE TRIBUNE Monday night in which he denied the charges made by Mrs. Honeyman in her bill.

PACIFIC AND FAR EAST NOW CLAIM WORLD'S STAGE

Oriental Problems to Be Taken Up Today.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—Pacific and far eastern political questions, which threaten to be the real stumbling block of this conference, will be approached in secret committee tomorrow with Secretary Hughes in the chair.

While the Japanese have very definite ideas on what they want and while the Chinese have a long list of complaints to present, the initiative in the delicate discussions will be left to the American secretary of state.

Mr. Hughes, it was learned definitely tonight, will not go about this as he did in the question of naval armaments. There will be no bomb in the shape of a definite list of radical proposals on the part of the United States.

No Dynamite for This Topic. No will not arise and say for instance, that America demands the approval of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, although that is what America does desire. There is too much dynamite in the situation. It will have to be approached in tentative fashion, but not.

No one can forecast tonight just what shape the discussion will take, but there is a feeling that the frame of mind in which the delegates come to this conference growing out of the assembling progress in naval reduction, augurs well for the success of the political end of the conference.

China alone remains pessimistic, fearing she will lose on the wave of popular approval that has followed the new relations entered into by Japan, Great Britain and the United States.

"I think we will be able to reach an agreement on the political issues although we must not be expected to go as fast," was the way one Japanese spokesman put it.

Anglo-Jap Treaty Unnecessary. The tendency toward an international agreement in the Pacific indicated by statements in conference today, to make the removal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance unnecessary, Japanese political advisers said today.

In taking up the questions of the far east, the main idea in the minds of the American and Japanese is to reach a friendly and reach an agreement. Chinese idea is to make trouble, at least that is the purpose of a part of the delegation.

The nine powers will be admitted at a committee hearing. All the delegates may attend if they wish, until committees are formed.

China's needs are so many that it would be out of the question to expect to accomplish everything at this conference," Mr. Wellington Koo, China's spokesman, said. "It is vitally necessary for China to control her railroads."

Japan Must Give Up Much. Abrogation of the Lansing-Ishih agreement and of the treaties embodied in the twenty-one demands, which include the extension of the Japanese control of Manchurian railways and ports, will be sought. If there is to be a reasonably early agreement, Japan must give up much.

It is important, however, to consider that the committee which takes up these questions has no authority to settle them.

There will be public discussion and public action on the reports of the committees. The private sessions are held at the beginning in order to give the delegates a chance to express a tentative opinion or make a tentative proposal without being subjected to interpretation as their final word on the subject in the quick American newspaper way. The participating nations will be America, Great Britain, China, France, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, and Portugal.

Understandings Among Groups. There are already reports of understandings among certain nations of this group to support each other. France, for instance, is said to be ready to uphold Japan's ambitions in Manchuria because of French interests in the Chinese Eastern railroad and the possibility of a political agreement by which French interests in South China would be protected.

If this sort of thing gets far the conference will fall in this feature, and the seeds of future trouble will remain. It is suggested in responsible quarters that it may never be possible to put any commitment on paper regarding the far east realignment, but that the conference will result in an understanding that would be conveyed to Japan that America and Great Britain disapprove of her methods in China and will stand together in opposing further aggression.

CURTAIN SHIPS, NOT PERSONNEL, REILLY ADVISES

Says Hughes Proposals Solve Old Problem.

BY GEN. HENRY REILLY.

[Editor Army and Navy Journal.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—The substantial reduction by congress in the last year of the peace strength of the navy personnel has resulted in our naval authorities being confronted with a serious problem in finding sufficient crews for the ships already in commission, to say nothing of crews for new ships under construction.

In working out his proposal Mr. Hughes was guided by four principles, the first two being [a] the elimination of all capital shipbuilding programs, either actual or projected; [b] further reduction through the scrapping of certain of the older ships.

The number of men and officers that would have been required to man our fleet on a peace basis, should the present building program be completed, is about 150,000, whereas the proposed scrapping of the program ships, with certain additional old vessels, will reduce the peace personnel requirements to about 120,000.

Quality of Personnel Enhanced. It is important to recognize that while limitation of armaments will reduce competitive building of ships, it will foster a keener competition than ever in the efficiency of the crews. Obviously when a limit is placed upon total quantity the importance of quality is enhanced. In military and naval matters it is quality of personnel much more than quantity of material that produces efficiency.

In all countries in peace and particularly among civilians there is a tendency to ignore the fact that the efficiency of a war machine depends absolutely upon the human being or human beings back of it. It is the excitement and stress of battle this is emphasized to an extent almost unbelievable to those who have not seen it. It is the principal reason why high power modern weapons cause relatively such a small amount of damage.

Therefore, whatever limit is agreed upon as to number and size of ships, it will be imperative that American ships are not undermanned—either in number or quality of personnel.

Adequate Men and Training. With proper training there will be no question of American quality. It is for congress to provide an adequate number of personnel under such laws as will give sufficient opportunity for training; then we need have no fears that the paper strength of our fleet is below the ratio of strength agreed upon in the conference.

The navy on the whole is being run on a hand-to-mouth basis regarding personnel and having a very difficult time to keep up even the rudiments of efficiency. If our limited fleet is to serve its proper ratio of strength with the limited fleets of Great Britain and Japan we must take into account that they maintain large quotas of highly trained men and should follow their example. We will require a total of at least 120,000 men to match their efficiency and strength; in other words, the present personnel cannot be reduced, but, on the contrary, should be increased by about 20,000 men.

The danger of relying too much upon material and not sufficiently considering personnel was illustrated in the recent war by the indecisive results of the battle of Jutland when the British fleet was handled primarily by the experts of the material school.

BUREAUCRATS OF JAPAN ASK NAVY EQUAL TO U. S.

Slash British Fleet More, Too, Is Plea.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

TOKIO, Nov. 15.—Although Japan has accepted in principle Secretary of State Hughes' proposal for reduction of naval armaments, undoubtedly it will insist on certain qualifications.

This is indicated by the advice of many leaders to observe caution until the country has had time to reflect over the stupifying suggestion. The leading spokesman of this line of thought is Baron Megata, a delegate to the league of nations, who says:

"In several respects Japan is not in the position as the United States, particularly in respect to iron, as well as give sufficient opportunity for other natural resources, and the number of large factories. It was for this reason that the eight-eight standard was proposed years ago. Today our territory is much more extensive, and what will we have to defend ourselves with after the suspension of construction?"

Mr. Osaki, the leader of the disarmament movement in Japan, approving of the plan heartily, says that only America was large enough in soul to formulate such a scheme.

Vice Admiral Funakoshi, the chief of the naval arsenal, opposes scrapping the Tosa, Kaga, and Mutsu, super-dreadnaughts now being constructed, adding:

"A ten year holiday will be a disastrous blow to the naval arsenal and the Kawasaki and Mitsubishi dockyards, aggravating the present bad labor situation. This is a point on which I feel the greatest apprehension."

Managing Director Shiohara of the Mitsubishi dockyards also warns of the danger of wholesale dismissals of thousands of workmen, adding that nearly all the steel mills in Japan would be closed down, and he says finally:

"It is impossible to imagine for a moment that Japan is in a condition to accept the conditions which Mr. Hughes submits."

PRESIDENT MAY GIVE LIBERTY TO EUGENE V. DEBS

No General Amnesty, Says Attorney General.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—White House visitors who have broached the matter to the President have come away under the strong impression that Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for President in 1920, now serving a sentence in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, for opposition to the selective service act, will be freed by presidential pardon.

An equally strong impression was obtained both at the White House and the department of justice that there would be no proclamation offering amnesty to "political prisoners."

Against General Amnesty. The attorney general said today that he was prepared to forward his report on the Debs case to the White House after certain changes had been made in its "phraseology."

"I do not know the President's views," he said, "but my present opinion is that there should be no general amnesty."

It is understood that President Harding is considering the Debs case "apart from the fact that Debs has been convicted of opposition to the conduct of the war with Germany."

Ask Delegates to Free Slackers. Large yellow banners with inscriptions lettered in black urging the release of all political prisoners, including slackers, conscientious objectors, draft evaders, and opponents of the draft, appeared in front of Continental memorial hall at 10 o'clock this morning borne by a group of men and women who did picket duty while the delegates to the conference assembled.

The pickets, who included Mrs. Charles Edward Russell and Crane Garz, a nephew of Charles R. Crane of Chicago, stood at the curb, holding their banners so that each arriving delegate could see. They were not interfered with.

The banners asserted that "145 political prisoners" are still incarcerated in federal penitentiaries for expressing opposition to the war, although England, France, Italy, Germany, Belgium, and Turkey have granted amnesty to all conscientious objectors.

Women in the Group. Women carrying banners were Miss Hazel Edgar of St. Paul, who served with the Red Cross in France, Mrs. Gison Gardner, formerly of Chicago; Mrs. Charles Edward Russell, Miss Gladys Greiner of Baltimore.

The demonstration was staged under the auspices of the American Civil Liberties union, the headquarters of which, in New York, is in charge of Mrs. Roger Baldwin.

Bakersfield, Cal., Nov. 15.—An earth tremor was felt in this city today. The quake continued for several minutes, but was not violent enough to cause any damage. Two distinct shocks were felt.

Georgetown Reports Shocks. Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—A pronounced earthquake shock was registered on the seismograph at Georgetown university, the estimated distance of the disturbance being 1,900 miles from Washington and probably to the south. The tremors began at 3:51 p. m., attained their maximum intensity at 4:01, and ended at 5:05 o'clock.

ACTRESS FROM EVANSTON NAMED IN HANNA'S WILL

Marginal Blots Tell Strange Romance.

New York, Nov. 15.—It was learned tonight that June Avis Evans, the woman named in blotted marginal notes on the will of the late Daniel R. Hanna, millionaire Cleveland publisher, as his prospective fifth wife, is an actress who met Mr. Hanna last spring and became engaged to marry him during the summer, which she and her mother spent at Mr. Hanna's country estate, the Croft, on the Hudson.

Miss Evans has engaged Banton, Ferguson & Moore (District Attorney Banton's law firm) to protect her interests. Leslie C. Ferguson, a member of the firm, said today that the will "apparently" gave Miss Evans $25,000 a year for life, besides the Croft, and that his firm would take every possible step to secure Miss Evans' claims.

Strange Blots on Margin. Although the marginal notes in favor of Miss Evans were blotted out in an apparent change of heart by Mr. Hanna concerning Miss Evans, the lawyer said he contended that her claims were valid. Photographic and certified copies of the will were obtained by the actress' attorneys from the surrogate's office in White Plains, where the will was filed, as the basis of their fight.

One paragraph which can be read through the blur says: "It being my intention to marry June Avis Evans." Then several words are indistinguishable and the paragraph ends: "Should I die before such marriage takes place, I instruct my executors to provide a trust" (then more blotted making the rest of the paragraph illegible).

The identity of Miss Evans was disclosed by a friend of Mr. Hanna. When Miss Evans was located at her home she refused to discuss the case, but her mother said, "Everything Mr. Ferguson says is right."

Once Lived in Evanston. Miss Evans was described as about 45, of medium height, dark and well formed. She was born in England and came to this country at an early age with her parents, who made their home in Evanston, Ill. Her father, now dead, was a superintendent employed by Armour & Co. in Chicago.

When a young woman Miss Evans was married and divorced.

Mr. Hanna, who had many close friends in the theatrical world, and the actress were introduced by a mutual friend last spring. It was in April, incidentally, that the fourth Mrs. Hanna obtained her divorce decree.

Although friends of Mr. Hanna said tonight that a determined fight would be made to prevent Miss Evans from getting "The Croft," it appears the family will agree to some kind of settlement. The estate is estimated at $10,000,000.

JAPAN, SPHINX OF ORIENT, KEY TO PEACE: WELLS

Strange People a Riddle to British Author.

ferent thing from the governments it will be meeting in Washington. A people built upon obedience can be HELD and WIELED as no modern democratic people can be held and wielded. It is different in kind.

Unless this point is kept in mind there are certain to be great and possibly dangerous misunderstandings in the Washington discussions. There have probably been very dangerous misunderstandings already of the European powers by the Japanese.

The Japanese are likely to think that the Atlantic governments are more free to decide than they really are and that what they say is more conclusive than it really is, and the Atlantic peoples are likely to think too much of the existence of a liberal public opinion in Japan and to imagine that a Japanese government may be thrown out and its policy changed much more easily than is the case.

How Governments Vary.

But, indeed, Japan is a government, a military government, holding its people in its hand like a staff or a weapon, while in America and France and Britain peoples are operating the governments, more or less imperfectly. In no relationship is more evident upon this point more probable and more dangerous than between Japan and Britain or France at the present time and in no connection is there greater need of perfectly plain statement.

Seeing that Britain is still a monarchy with many aristocratic forms, it is fatally easy for a Japanese statesman to fall into the belief that the British government is as completely in control and its officials as able to bind or loose as the Japanese government and officials, and because of this belief to trust to the private assurances and general attitude of persons in high places far more than they are justified in doing.

Democracies Are Similar.

The British democracy is like the American democracy in its ability to keep watching what is happening overseas; it is preoccupied by domestic questions and things that are near to it. You cannot expect a Wiltshire farmer or a Lancashire cotton spinner to keep up day by day with the concession hunting game in Persia or South China.

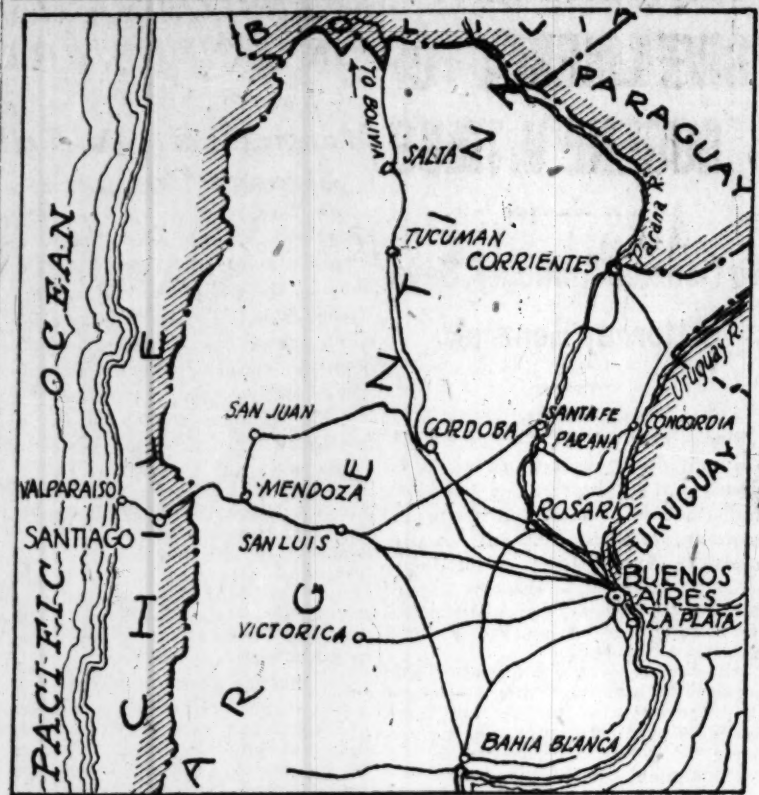

But that game of concession hunting piles up to sufficiently serious consequences, these democracies are likely to wake up in a manner quite outside the Japanese range of possibilities. And to a large extent the same is true of France.

It is the blessed privilege of an irresponsible journalist to say things that no diplomatist could ever say, and upon the relation of Japan, America, and England there are certain truths that seem to need saying plainly at the present time. But though I am an irresponsible journalist, it is also to be noted that I am a very English Englishman, and that I know the way of thinking of my people.

British Have Been Sleeping.

The British people have been sleeping happily upon the belief that war with America is impossible. And for them it is impossible. In this matter the British have a special and extror-

BRITISH DEFY ARGENTINA

Argentina is reported to be having a dispute with its British owned railways. The rail companies announced an increase in fares, which the government held illegal. The government has withheld aid for the railways in collecting the increased fares on the trains. It also is charged that the railroads are obstructing the construction of grain elevators in Argentina. They claim that the rail magnates have large interests in Indian jute, and are attempting to continue the custom of stacking grain in sacks in the open air, which process is said to be wasteful and antiquated.

inary instinct. They will not fight the United States of America. I will not go into the peculiar feelings that produce this disposition; they are feelings of deep numbers of Americans do not understand, and have indeed taken great pains not to understand. But to the common British, fighting Americans would have much the same relation to fighting other peoples that cannibalism would have to eating meat.

I hear a certain type of American over here slowly and heavily debating the Hughes proposals on the assumption that there may be a war of America against Britain and Japan. Such an assumption is—if I may be permitted the word—idiotic.

As a people the British have not been thinking very much about the Pacific question. They have been preoccupied by Ireland and their own economic troubles.

A Quiet Tip to Tokio!

But if that question presently moves towards a level of intensity where war is possible, let there be no mistake about it in Japan, the ordinary English will begin thinking WITH the Americans. They will read much the same stuff, because they have the same language, and think in the same way because they have kindred habits of thought.

It will not matter then what assurances and sentiments the Japanese may have had from official personages in Great Britain. For we are dealing here not with a matter of agreements, but with a kind of moral gravitation.

If there is a conflict the British masses will want to come on the American side, and if it seems likely to be in the least an inclusive conflict they will certainly come in. If the rulers of the Japanese dream that any other combination is possible in the Pacific, they are under as dangerous a delusion as ever lured a great nation to disaster.

Little Brown Brother Waking. But there are many signs that, if ever the ruling people of Japan entertained this delusion they are being awakened, and that they begin to Importance—enter into such a binding contract for her future international relationships as will enable her to beat the swords of her Samurai into plowshares for good and all?

In Japan peculiarly an obstacle to the practical if informal federation of the world to which we all hope that things are moving?

When I try to frame a hopeful answer to that question it occurs to me with added force that Japan is not a people trying to express itself through a government, as we Atlantic peoples are, but a government, a small ruling class, in effective possession of an obedience loving people. And I remember that that small ruling class has a long tradition of romantic and chivalrous swordsmanship.

Against Total Disarming.

Is that ruling class going to keep its power, and is it going to preserve its traditions? No one could be more urgent than I for the complete disarmament of the entire world, but no one could be more convinced of the unwisdom of disarmament by America or any other power while any single country in the world maintains a spirit that must lead at last to a resumption of warfare.

To disarm in such a situation is to leave the trouble to accumulate upon our grandchildren; to patch up a temporary peace based on the permitted "expansion" of such a power is simply to prepare for expanded war in the future.

But is that Japan's ruling class resolved at any cost, even at the cost of another world war, and at the risk of destroying Japan, to hold on to its present power and to adhere rigidly to its traditions? In the last hundred years Japan, because of her aristocracy and because of her general obedience, has achieved feats of adaptation to new conditions that are unparalleled in history.

As we have noted, there have recently been indications of further changes in the spirit of Japan. She is said to be pressing forward with the education of the common people and the liberation of thought and discussion.

In the long run, what is happening in the schools of Japan is of more importance to mankind than what is happening in her dock yards. But at present we do not know what is happening in the schools of Japan. One hears much of New Japan and Liberal Japan, and there is even an unofficial representative of the Japanese opposition in Washington. But so far as we can judge at this distance we must be guided by the policy and methods of the Japanese government.

Before we can judge these we must consider the nature of the field in which they seem to clash most with American ideas and with American and European interests, namely, China and eastern Asia generally.

Will Discuss China Next.

In my next paper I will ask, "What is China?" and consider the nature of the needs and claims of Japan in regard to China and the prohibitions and the renunciations the western powers want to impose upon her. For it is on account of these restrictions and prohibitions that Japan has been building her battleships. Her fighting fleet is to secure her a free hand in China

What Will Islanders Do?

What is that minimum which will satisfy her without war? Will it satisfy her for good, will it seem so permanently satisfactory to her that she will be willing, not only to set aside the thought of and preparation for an immediate war out—what is of far more

BIGGEST STEP IN 3 YEARS, ASQUITH CALLS U. S. PLAN

BY PEABODY SWIFT.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1921 by The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Addressing the Architectural association this evening on the Washington conference, former Prime Minister H. H. Asquith said:

"With unspeakable relief most of us have read the account of what took place at Washington within the last few days. In the course of a single week longer steps have been taken in advance than in the whole of the last three years. The problem of naval disarmament lies on the threshold of a new and better future."

"During the years preceding the war, when I was head of the government, our annual naval expenditures were doubled. It was a curse that we had inflicted on ourselves to escape an even greater evil, but still it was a curse, for it diverted an ever growing amount of wealth from productive to nonproductive and destructive purposes."

"The proposals of the United States offer for the first time a practical prospect of the deliverance of both ourselves and every great and small nation in the world from this burden."

"I trust and believe the proposals will be welcomed and embraced by all here, by the whole of Europe and by the whole civilized world, not only in the spirit of their intention, but as affording a workable scheme whereby without sacrifice of either their honor or their security the nations will find immediately an ever increasing relief from the intolerable burden."

and Siberia; it can have no other purpose.

And I shall take up the question whether the prohibitions and renunciations we want to force upon Japan are not prohibitions and restrictions that we are bound in fairness to impose equally upon all powers concerned with China and the far east."

If the other powers are not prepared for extreme general restrictions and renunciation in China, if they want to bar out Japan from aggressive practices and exclusive advantages that other powers retain, if we cling to any sort of racial distinction in these matters, then, I shall submit, we are asking impossible things from Japan and we are forcing her towards what must be indeed a very desperate gamble for her, a refusal to enter into this proposed disarmament agreement—and that means war!

Mr. Wells' next article will appear in The Tribune tomorrow.

HOLLAND BEGINS TO TAKE INTEREST IN ARMS PARLEY

THE HAGUE, Nov. 15.—[By the Associated Press.]—The American proposals for drastic limitation of naval armaments have aroused the Dutch public from its former state of apparent indifference toward that gathering. Nearly all the Dutch newspapers express confidence in the success of the conference.

The Vaderland says in commenting on the proposals that America herself is making considerable sacrifices by offering to cease building cruisers and other warships.

"There is sufficient reason to be optimistic, although hitches may occur," it adds.

Only the Nieuwe Courant is pessimistic in its comment.

"President Harding," it says, "used many big words, but said few great things."

It calls the atmosphere created by the Hughes speech "morbid and overstrung."

The Amsterdam and Rotterdam exchanges are reacting favorably to the news that an agreement for limitation of armaments is possible at the Washington conference. Quotations of all securities were already on higher levels today than for several weeks.

Illustrative of Quality Selection,
the Subject Today Is Veal.

Comparatively few persons have the faintest conception of the great variation in quality there is in veal.

Many meat supply men prefer not to accept the orders of Henrici's for veal, because of the difficulty in securing the quality insisted upon.

When you see veal in a Henrici menu you may be assured that it is of a quality seldom obtainable elsewhere.

When, a few weeks hence, the additional space, now in course of preparation, is ready, there will be ample accommodation for all patrons at all hours, as the seating capacity will be increased by more than fifty per cent.

NATIONS OFFER AMENDMENTS TO U. S. NAVAL PLAN

Japan Wants Its Ship Limit Increased.

BY HENRY WALES.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—Modification of the 5-5-3 plan began officially and in earnest today when Britain, Japan, France, and Italy began whittling at Mr. Hughes' proposals.

After agreeing "in principle" to the American disarmament scheme as "a basis of discussion" in conformity with recognized rules of international conferences—for to have rejected the plan would have broken up the party—the visiting delegations have begun to warp it out of shape by suggesting changes and amendments.

Eight proposals for alterations and exemptions have been mentioned; four by Great Britain, two by Japan, and one each by France and Italy.

What Each Nation Suggests.

They comprise the following points: Great Britain—Limitation of the size and tonnage of submarines.

Abandonment of the ten-year "naval holiday" and construction of one ship a year for the next decade to keep the naval shipyards and workmen engaged.

Permission to continue to "police the high seas," entailing additional light cruisers and gunboats beyond the complementary number in proportion to capital ships.

Reduction of the number of naval shipbuilding yards in exact ratio to the decrease in the number of capital ships.

Asks Increase in Strength.

Japan: Increase in strength of the Japanese navy from 60 per cent of the British and American strengths to 70 per cent.

Cessation of construction of new fortifications and naval bases in the Pacific.

France: Allowance of eight "capital ships" to safeguard French colonial interests in Africa, Madagascar and the far east; and the Mediterranean.

Italy: Allowance of six "capital ships" to protect Italian interests in the Mediterranean and Adriatic.

An additional ninth suggestion, permitting construction of warships for other powers, is expected jointly from the British and Japanese, the former being particularly anxious to retain the lucrative business built up of providing navies for smaller states, South American powers in particular.

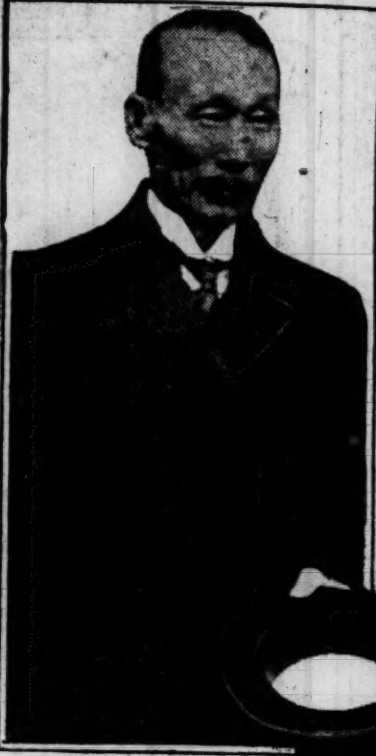

Britain Had Monopoly.

The English shipyards enjoyed a monopoly in this until just before the great war, when Germany's bid for a place on the high seas gained her several clients. Turkey's orders for the construction of two dreadnaughts gave Germany Constantinople and the Dardanelles—secured her two allies, the Ottoman empire and Bulgaria, when the warships, rechristened the Goeben and Breslau, joined the German imperial navy.

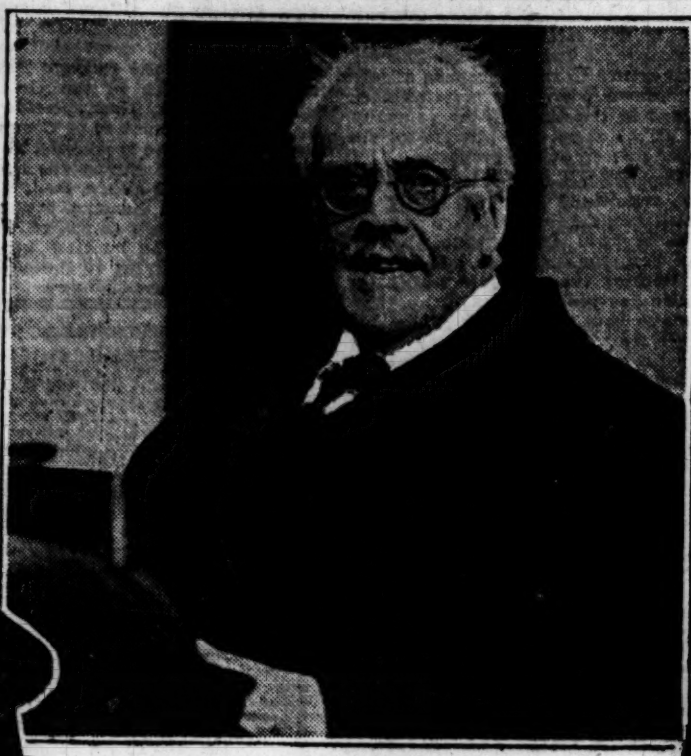

Imperial naval ensign in the first days of August, 1914, crossed the Adriatic from Brindisi, and dropped anchor in the Golden Horn, thus cutting off Russia from her allies.

With the sinking of the German fleet at Scapa Flow, Britain moved back automatically into her former position of purveyor of warships to the smaller nations, although the Japanese have recently been making a bid to construct warships for little states not provided with shipyards.

To Consider All Suggestions.

All these suggestions and amendments will be examined and discussed by the technical subcommittees appointed this afternoon composed of the heads of the naval sections of the various delegations. Col. Theodore Roosevelt has been chosen chairman of this subcommittee, Britain being represented by Lord Beatty, Japan by Admiral Kato, France by Admiral De Bon, and Italy by Admiral Acton. Col. Theodore Roosevelt was made chairman upon the suggestion of Mr. Balfour.

American official circles stated this evening that all of the proposed amendments and changes would be examined and indicated that some of them at least would be allowed, and incorporated in the original plan as submitted by Mr. Hughes.

The British admiralty viewpoint is that the submarine is an "undesirable naval weapon" and contrary to the principles of "humanitarian" warfare.

Experiments on Submarines.

Since the surrender of 119 German submarines after the armistice and examination by the allies of their new type Diesel engines, fire control, improved periscopes, and other innovations, the British began experiments with submarines embodying all German features hitherto unknown.

The United States, on the other hand, with only one giant ship, the Leviathan, and with no plant or drydock to receive even this one, would be entirely dependent on such navy yards and naval shipbuilding plants as were left her under the amended plan.

Austrian Envoy Enters Relations with U. S. Abroad

(Chicago Tribune Foreign Service.)
PARIS, Nov. 15.—George Harvey, the United States ambassador to Great Britain, today entered into relations with the Austrian ambassador to Paris, the latter calling on the American and leaving a card. This action followed the signature of peace with the central empires yesterday.

See Menace to U. S.

Britain's proposal to reduce naval ship yards in proportion to the limitation in number of capital ships is supported by the Japanese. Adoption of this suggestion is regarded in American quarters as a direct menace to the United States position in naval warfare as both her rivals, in their role of commercial shipbuilders would thus retain numerous ways, slips, and drydocks capable of handling warships as well as passenger liners and freighters.

Britain and Japan, maintaining commercial ship yards to build and keep in commission 900 foot liners of 56,000 tons burden would always have equipment ready to construct and overhaul capital ships, if this proposal were allowed.

Following the failure of experiments with the giant steam submarine and submersible monitor armed with 12 inch guns, the British again reversed their attitude toward submarines and continue to regard them with disfavor.

With her vast mercantile marine, Britain is the principal power interested in curtailing the number of "sea sharks" that potential future enemies may possess, and waits their power and cruising radius so restricted that they will be merely available for coast defense purposes.

REMARriage OF MADELYNN MUST AWAIT FREEDOM

Judges Decline to Permit Wedding in Jail.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—County authorities today forbade Ralph R. Obenchain, sometimes called the "modern Sir Galahad" and "the man in a million," to marry his former wife, the attractive Madelynn, who is charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy.

Superior Judges Reeve and Willis advised Sheriff Treasurer that such a marriage in jail would be "against public policy." As Mrs. Obenchain cannot leave the jail, that advice puts the quietus on the wedding bells.

Coincidentally, Madelynn's co-defendant, Arthur Burch, alleged to have crossed the continent and killed a man just to please her, was ordered into a sort of semi-solitary confinement in the jail.

Burch Pleads on His Knees.

Burch last night interrupted a love scene between "the man in a million" and the woman of a back corner of a corridor in the jail by flinging himself upon his knees before the alleged sorceress and pleading with her not to marry her former husband, who is in the record as one of her counsel.

Jailer Cronin as a result of this love drama today issued a few orders, such as: Burch will not have the freedom of the jail; he will stay in his cell; he will not be permitted to see any one except reporters and jailers. Most particularly he will not see Madelynn.

The modern Sir Galahad also loses some of his privileges. He will not have any more "corridor confabs" with Madelynn. He will do his consulting with her in the public reception room in the full view of every one.

Burch today paid his respects to Obenchain: "Man in a million, bah! He's the boob in a million!"

WON'T SAY HE'S INSANE.

Chicago witnesses examined by Los Angeles attorneys yesterday in an effort to settle the question of the sanity of Arthur C. Burch, accused with Madelynn Obenchain of the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, refused to state flatly that they believe him insane.

Even his mother could make no such statement. "He is not the boy of high moral character and ideals that he used to be," was all she would say.

The testimony of the mother, Mrs. Dora M. Burch, revealed that Burch had frequently told her of his affairs with other women before he was divorced by Mrs. Alice Quayle Burch, daughter of Bishop William Quayle.

Roy M. McKircher, Willmette attorney, who was a close friend and roommate of Burch in high school and college days, declared his belief that the accused slayer of Kennedy "is not possessed of the full reasoning powers he had when he was a university student of exceptionally high mentality and member of two scholarship fraternities."

Other depositions will be taken in Evanston today, after which the attorneys will depart for Los Angeles to be ready for the opening of the trial of Burch and Madelynn on Nov. 22.

SUPREME COURT JUDGE INDICTED BY BOSTON JURY

Attorney General Is Also Named.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 15.—Justice Edward P. Pierce of the Massachusetts Supreme court was indicted by the Suffolk county grand jury today on charges of conspiracy with W. Edwin Ulmer, an attorney, to deprive certain persons of property rights in stock and to obstruct justice.

Attorney General J. Weston Allen also was named in secret indictments.

The charges against the attorney general is larceny of $154, and is said to be based on a case in which he acted as counsel several years ago.

The other indictments were on evidence distinct from that against the attorney general. They resulted from a grand jury investigation of charges of bribery and graft in connection with the affairs of the Waban Rose conservatories and the Henry Woods' Sons company, paint manufacturers, in Wellesley.

Prosecutor Also in Trouble.

The cases were presented to the grand jury through the office of District Attorney Pelletier, who was himself in court today as a defendant in disbarment proceedings brought by the attorney general following a "midnight orgy" at Michiwan Manor in which "Fatty" Arbuckle, many young girls, and big movie magnates were said to be involved.

The disbarment action and a petition also filed by Attorney General Allen for Pelletier's removal for alleged improper use of his official position are now pending before the Supreme court.

The district attorney asked for postponement of both actions until after the municipal elections, Dec. 13, on the ground that he would be greatly occupied until that time by his activities as a candidate for mayor of Boston.

Attorney Pleads Not Guilty.

Ulmer was arraigned on a charge of conspiracy to obstruct justice and of fraudulently depriving others of their rightful possession of stock.

The Waban Rose conservatories and the Henry Woods' Sons company, both of which were under Ulmer's management, have been involved in litigation for several years. The conservatory is now in receivership and the Woods' company in bankruptcy.

OPERA STARS IN "TOSCA" SCORE SECOND TRIUMPH

Raisa and Baklanoff Thrill Hearers.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

A number of things happened at the Auditorium last night to take the occasion out of the customary second night of opera slumps.

The opera—"Tosca"—was the occasion of the debut of the tenor, Tino Patella, also of the conductor, Angelo Ferrari; there were two well remembered artistic giants in the cast, Raisa and Georges Baklanoff; the box office reported the largest second night sale in the history of the company; and the audience gathered itself up into applause that ran all the way from the favorable ripple to the enthusiastic clamor.

Wherefore another mark is to be added to the already long credit score of General Director Mary Garden. She has scored away the second night bugaboo.

Patella Hard to Hear.
Mr. Patella, a Dalmatian, came here preceded by the reputation of many brilliant performances of Verdi and Puccini tenor roles in foreign opera houses. Surveying his debut here, one can understand why he should be in theaters smaller than the Auditorium. Personally he is a fine looking, upstanding individual, with a good carriage and an engaging smile. For operatic purposes he is endowed with a lyric voice of lovely quality.

That about lets him out. Unfortunately it is not enough for the Auditorium. In those magnificent distances his voice, velvet though it was, was more confidential than outspoken. Many of his utterances had to be taken for granted, and this thought Mr. Ferrari kept the orchestra well subdued and Miss Raisa took care not to throw him in the shadow. Also, a captious observer might have preferred to have him spend less time on the train of her gown.

Raisa, Baklanoff Magnificent.
But when Miss Raisa and Mr. Baklanoff are in the cast of "Tosca" there is sure to be a show. What a magnificent pair her Tosca and her Scarpia are! Though the purists rage and the Brahmins, of music imagine a vain thing, their part of the second act will cause more thrills to run up and down the spine than any other scene in opera. After the season is over and the singers scattered, one thinks and thinks again of her shuddery exit out into the moonlight, away from his body with the candles at his head.

Theatrical it is, certainly, but the star of a kind that reaches across and grips you fast.

I liked Mr. Ferrari's conducting much, and I think everyone else did. He may have missed some of the purple patches of the score, may have softened an occasional asperity, but his beat was certain and his effects sure, and mostly they were good effects.

Others of Cast Score.
There were other high, if minor, points of this performance, among them Vittorio Treviani's splendid impersonation of the scurrier, scared to the depths of his mouse-like soul when Scarpia came near. Constantini Nicolay, quite as good as Angelotti; and the picture of unkempt, squawking evil that was Lodovico Oliviero's Spoleto.

Another Puccini opera tonight, "Mme. Butterfly," with Edith Mason (debut), Edward Johnson, Irene Pavloska, Giacomo Rimini, and Polacco conducting.

BABY DIES OF BURNS.
Alex Justus, 18 months old, son of Gottfried Justus, 515 South 11th avenue, Maywood, died yesterday of burns. He was playing in the kitchen while his mother was washing and fell into a tub of hot water.

SOCIETY AT SECOND OF SEASON'S OPERAS COLORFUL, BRILLIANT

The first nighters were a bit dubious in their applause lest they loosen their newly polished thrills or split their new twenty button gloves, last night's audience more than made up in enthusiasm, and almost in numbers. "The Biggest second night in the opera company's history," as one of the ardent supporters put it. Brilliant gowns and jewels were as much in evidence as at the premiere, giving the promenade a gayer air than for many seasons.

Mrs. Harold F. McCormick was seated in her box several minutes before the curtain rose. With her were Miss Nellie Carpenter, Miss Moeske, Mrs. McCormick Goodhart, and Mr. Krenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin, also early arrivals, had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell, Miss Julia Junkin Ravenal, and Theodore B. Hinkle.

With Harold F. McCormick and Miss Muriel McCormick were Mrs. John Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Howard. Miss McCormick looked unusually well in a gown of crimson velvet and a narrow diamond belt in her hair.

One of the most attractive spots in the horseshoe was the John J. Mitchell box. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell had as their guests their sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mitchell.

In the George M. Reynolds box were Mr. and Mrs. Earle H. Reynolds and Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Armour.

Mrs. Charles A. Chapin had with her Mr. and Mrs. Homer C. Chapin, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Smith, and C. A. Coolidge.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bryson, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Burton, and Mr. and Mrs. William L. Baum were together.

With Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Hutchinson and Mr. and Mrs. Noble B. Judah were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Lancaster.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Wrigley Jr. were Mr. and Mrs. Marquis Eaton, Mrs. James R. Offield, and Dr. Julia Strawn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford R. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Taft, and Miss Elizabeth Boyle were guests of Charles H. Swift.

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Dean Bevan had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. George E. Marcy and Dr. and Mrs. L. L. McArthur.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Dixon had with them Mr. and Mrs. Alan Dixon, Miss Grace Dixon, Mrs. Thomas Dixon, and Russell Dixon.

Mr. and Mrs. Marquette Healy, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walker, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jarrett were together. Mr. and Mrs. Clive Runnels and Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Cable.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Pike, Mrs. Kenneth Sawyer Goodman, and Hugh Blythe were together.

Others in the audience were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pratt Judson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Aldis, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis N. Kimball, Mrs. John Jay Borland, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Blair, Miss Anita Blair, Miss Cornelia Conger, Mrs. Leroy W. Fuller, Mrs. Bruce Borland, Mrs. and Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks, and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McIlvaine.

NEW RAIL WAGE FIGHT LOOMS AS CUTS ARE ASKED

75 Western Roads Seek Parley.

Indications of another railway wage controversy developed yesterday.

As more than 600 officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers concluded a two day "policy session" in the Masonic temple officials of seventy-five western railroads announced they had requested conferences with "employees to discuss additional wage reductions. Similar conferences are being sought by fifty-two roads operating in territory east of the Mississippi river and north of the Ohio river.

Up to Federal Board. That all these conferences are merely a matter of form, required by the transportation act, and will result, in each instance, in disagreements which will bring the wage issue before the United States labor board, seems generally accepted as a foregone conclusion.

"Big Five" brotherhood chiefs contend the controlling factor in averting the strike that was scheduled for Oct. 30 was the assurance of the labor board that disputes involving further wage reductions would not be heard until working rules controversies had all been disposed of—which union leaders say they were led to believe, would require some time.

But an unforeseen development has reduced the work of the railroad labor board. It was announced yesterday that the brotherhoods have signed agreements with roads in the eastern, western, and southwestern territories, under which adjustment boards will be established.

For Petty Grievances.
Each of these boards, provided for by the Esch-Cummins transportation act, will have eight members, one from each of the four leading transportation brotherhoods and four representing the roads of a given territory.

Hundreds of petty grievances which have heretofore hampered the work of the labor board will be heard by the adjustment boards and, only in case of a deadlock, will go before the federal tribunal.

Following adjournment of the conference of general chairmen, Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Engineers, and W. S. Carter, head of the firemen's organization, said a plan for meeting any effort to revise existing rules and working conditions or to reduce wages had been agreed upon.

Substantial reduction in freight rates on virtually all commodities shipped west from points east of the Rocky mountains are asked in petitions of railroads to be heard today, tomorrow, and Friday in the Great Northern hotel by Examiner William Disque of the interstate commerce commission. An effort to meet competition of coastwise shipping through the Panama canal inspired the appeal for authority to reduce tariffs, it is said.

TO PENNSYLVANIA EMPLOYEES

Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, made public yesterday a statement addressed to each employee. It is, in part, as follows: "It is not a pleasant duty for me to tell you that we are forced to ask you to accept a lower wage. I want you to know why this step is imperative. In the last year we have made great progress toward a mutual understanding. It is my hope now that you will try to realize the present situation and act in a spirit of fair minded cooperation."

"This company has only one thing to sell—viz., transportation. The public pays for this service in freight and passenger rates. It demands insistently that the price of railroad service be now reduced. Agriculture and industry generally are unable to pay many of the present charges for transportation."

Lower Rates Demand Lower Wages.
"The railroads and the interstate commerce commission cannot fail to do less than their utmost to relieve this situation by reducing the cost of transportation to the public through lower rates. Wages of railroad employees make up more than half of the total transportation cost. It is manifest that the present wage scales must be reduced in order to meet the public demand for such lower rates, and the company, therefore, will proceed in accordance with law, but will not make wage reductions until conferences have been held with the employees."

"Let me ask you to bear this in mind. The Pennsylvania Railroad company has no desire whatever to reduce the wages of its employees. It would avoid any such necessity if it were possible. This is not only a matter between the company and its employees; it is between you and the public which is called upon to pay present rates to meet your pay roll.

Earnings Too Small for Fixed Charges.
"Under existing conditions this railroad is not earning enough to pay present wages and other fixed charges, a fair return to the thousands of men and women who have invested their savings in the stock of the company, and at the same time provide for the proper upkeep of the property."

"Expenditures for maintenance have been regrettably but necessarily deferred; thousands of employees, many of them loyal and capable workers, have been furloughed or laid off, and the working time of those still in the service has been reduced in an effort to make both ends meet. There has been a heavy falling off in traffic and reductions in freight rates since the higher rates were authorized by the interstate commerce commission, both far reaching reductions in operating costs."

"The owners of the Pennsylvania railroad, nearly 140,000 men and women, have suffered a reduction in their dividend from 6 per cent per annum to 4 per cent per annum, or 33 1/3 per cent, and even this reduced rate is not being earned in 1921. The company has never paid big dividends, and all of its stock has been fully paid in cash. During the period of the high cost of living and large profits in other industries this railroad paid only the usual moderate dividend, although the wages of the company's employees were successively increased 10 per cent above the pre-war level. The scale of those wages has been reduced only about 12 per cent below that high level, as authorized by the labor board."

"It is my earnest hope that you will cooperate with us now and help us to lower transportation costs and thereby also assist in living business and lowering the cost of living."

$44,054.28 GAS CONSUMERS ASKED

Files Claim with Against Co

BY OSCAR H.

A claim of $44,054.28, a gas company for the gas consumed by the city of Chicago was filed yesterday in the city court by the Chicago Gas Consumers' Committee.

The company on Sept. 15, 1921, filed a claim against the gas utility for $44,054.28. The claim came as a result of a city ordinance passed last year which required the gas company to show cause why its rates should not be reduced. In response to this ordinance, the company filed a claim for $44,054.28, which it claimed was the amount of gas consumed by the city of Chicago in 1920.

The company's claim is based on the fact that the city of Chicago consumed 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas in 1920, at a rate of $44.05428 per cubic foot. The company claims that this rate is the highest in the country, and that it is entitled to a higher rate for the gas consumed by the city.

The city of Chicago, on the other hand, claims that the rate is too high, and that it is entitled to a lower rate. The city claims that the rate is based on an old contract, and that it is not entitled to pay more than the market rate for gas.

The case is now pending in the city court, and a decision is expected in the near future.

$44,054,224 FOR GAS CONSUMERS ASKED BY CITY

Files Claim with the State Against Company.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

A claim of $44,054,224 against the gas company for the gas users of Chicago was filed yesterday with the Illinois commerce commission by Donald R. Richberg, special attorney for the city in gas matters.

The company on Sept. 28 last made claims against the gas users for $12,174,343. The claim came forth when the company was ordered by the commission to show cause why its rates should not be reduced. In reply the company asserted that in 1918, 1919 and 1920 it had failed by $12,174,343 to earn sufficient to pay 7 1/2 per cent dividends on the old public utilities commission had allowed.

Answer of Company.
"The company has not been able to make up any part of this deficiency under the existing rates," reads the company's reply. "Until it does, the commission cannot legally reduce its rates."

Under public regulation the company has been subjected to confiscation of its property and will be subjected to further confiscation by the public. To reduce rates for gas at this time would not only violate the state and federal constitutions, but would work the injustice that public regulation is designed to prevent."

Charges $10,000,000 Waste.
Richberg asserts that "it is scandalous incompetence for the respondent company to charge public officials with the responsibility for its failure to earn a fair return upon the value of its property, when the financial and operating record of the company for fifty years is a long history of reckless waste of capital resources, lack of responsible foresight to meet changing conditions, inefficient operation of its plants and properties, notoriously reckless financing in the acquisition of properties, such as the Mutual Gas company, the Ogden Gas company, and the Indiana Natural Gas and Oil company, a history culminating in the wasteful expenditure of some $10,000,000 within approximately the last ten years."

But Richberg says that if the company is to collect $12,000,000 from the gas consumers the commerce commission should permit the consumers to collect $44,054,224 from the company, which he asserts is the amount paid in dividends of more than 7 per cent between 1917 and 1919. This is the way Richberg suggests that the $31,000,000 balance be collected from the company.

Claims a Setoff.
"If the company insists upon presenting a claim for recoupment of $44,054,224 in the amount of $12,174,343 this favorable commission should set off its claim in behalf of the consumers. The claim to be reimbursed for $44,054,224 collected in excessive profits, has provided a claim in favor of the consumers for rebates amounting to approximately $31,879,881, which should be reimbursed year by year through such reductions in rates below a present just and reasonable rate as would take from the owners of the public utility profits unjustly extorted from the consumers."

U. S. DROPS CASE

ROSE PASTOR STOKES.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 15.—The federal government's case against Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes, New York Socialist, was dismissed here today by W. H. Hallett, assistant United States district attorney for western Missouri. Mr. Hallett's action was pursuant to instructions from the attorney general's office in Washington.

Mrs. Stokes was convicted here three years ago before a jury in the Federal court on charges of unpatriotic utterances. She was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment by the public prosecutor, but appealed the case.

Mr. Hallett said his orders from Washington contained no explanation as to the reasons for dismissing the case.

Verdict Was Reversed.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 15.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals in March, 1920, handed down a decision here reversing the verdict by which Rose Pastor Stokes was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment for alleged violation of the espionage act. The reversal was on the ground that the charge given the jury by Judge A. S. Van Valkenburgh, trial judge, was prejudiced.

THOMPSON GETS TEMPORARY GRIP ON EXHIBIT FUND

Mayor Thompson and other defendants of the Pageant of Progress corporation were yesterday given the temporary custody by Judge George Fred Rush of the $350,000 profits made last summer at the Municipal pier. He sustained a demurrer filed against Samuel Grossman, who filed a taxpayer's petition for an accounting of the funds, and granted Grossman twenty days to amend his bill of complaint.

The ruling released the Pageant company's fund and the sureties on the $350,000 bond given for the safekeeping of the money in the Continental and Commercial National bank. The way is now clear for Grossman to bring the matter again before the court so the judge may determine whether the profits rightfully belong to the city of Chicago or to the Thompson-Lufkin publicity corporation and the health and sanitation organization headed by Dr. John Dill Robertson. In his ruling Judge Rush decided that the leases to the pier were void but the issue had become so clouded in the present litigation that it was difficult to give an equitable decision at this time.

STATE'S HELP IN TRAFFIC MUDDLE SOUGHT BY CITY

Council Asks Conference with Utilities Body.

The city council, through the committee on local transportation, yesterday called upon the Illinois commerce commission for cooperation in solving Chicago's traction problems. The commission's attitude toward subway proposals will be discussed at a joint conference the transportation committee voted to seek.

"We want to find out just where the commerce commission stands on transportation questions and confer with it as to the best means of improving facilities," said Ald. U. S. Schwartz, chairman of the committee. "If the commission is sincere in its professed desire for 'home rule,' it will refer representative of public utilities to the city council and give consideration to the recommendations of this committee."

Referred to Etelson.
The resolution providing for a meeting with the commerce commission was offered by Ald. James B. Bowler. It was adopted subject to approval of the corporation counsel. This reservation was made because Chester E. Cleveland, special counsel for the administration, some time ago advised the council to establish no relations with the commerce commission that would tend to embarrass the city in its fare negotiations.

George C. Sikes, for many years a leading advocate of a municipally owned consolidated transportation system in Chicago, appeared before the transportation committee on behalf of such a system. With evident reluctance, he conceded the need of a subway.

Undesirable, But Necessary.
"I hope the town is not to witness the development of a subway craze and that your committee will not be stampeded into rash action by a wave of subway hysteria," said Mr. Sikes. "I believe subways to be highly undesirable, but, to some extent, probably necessary. With proper coordination of elevated and surface lines, the need for subways may not be so extensive as it now appears to be."

"If agreement can be had upon a plan for limited subway development that will harmonize with the future traction program of the city, I do not see why the work of subway construction should not be undertaken speedily."

Mr. Sikes' objections to a subway are founded on the belief that underground transportation is unhealthful and the fact that the initial cost of construction is great, he said.

$27,136,000 in Fund.
Louis E. Gosselin, deputy controller, submitted a report showing the city's traction fund totals $27,136,000. This money, while invested in securities, could be made available "within twenty-four hours" for a subway project or any other purpose, Mr. Gosselin said.

S. D. Cookins, secretary of the Chicago Subway Arcade Traction company, which for years has sought a subway franchise, submitted plans for a comprehensive underground system. The committee, however, adjourned before he had finished. He will resume at the committee's meeting scheduled for tomorrow afternoon.

Council to Be Asked to Speed Work for Jobless.
Resolutions urging that work be started on city improvements to supply jobs for thousands of Chicago's unemployed will be introduced in the city council this afternoon by Ald. Robert J. Mulcahy, chairman of the unemployment commission. Only lack of funds for clerical staffs prevents pushing of projects that would employ every jobless man in the city, Michael J. Faherty, chairman of the board of local improvements, said.

LOSES-SUIT FOR "STOLEN" LOVE OF DEAD WIFE

A jury in the Superior court yesterday found Samuel Johnson, an employee of the International Harvester company, not guilty of alienating the affections of Mrs. John L. Walter, divorced and now dead wife of a locomotive engineer. And thereby set a precedent in some things marital, to-wit:

Walter asked $5,000 damages, asserting that in 1918 Johnson had had improper relations with his late wife. He brought witnesses to testify to having seen Johnson in Mrs. Walter's boudoir, kissing her and being otherwise "over solicitous and attentive."

Judge Joseph B. David, before whom the suit was heard, did not find these asseverations startling. "If it be true that the defendant had improper relations with the plaintiff's wife," he said, "it does not necessarily follow that she had lost her affections for her husband. Witness the days when knighthood was in flower, when the medieval French husband and wife might live together in love and mutual esteem and affection even though each knew the other to have a lover or paramour."

Attorneys for Johnson denied the charges, but admitted that, in 1918, Johnson, believing Mrs. Walter to be a widow, had "brought her whisky for her health"; that "he was more attentive to and solicitous of Mrs. Walter, who was dying of tuberculosis, than her husband," and might even "have kissed her."

Following the attentions of Johnson to Mrs. Walter, the husband obtained a divorce. Mrs. Walter later died. Johnson married. The suit was then filed.

INDICTMENTS IN TAX FRAUD CASE DRAW LANDIS' FIRE

Holds Up Schuyler Perjury
Bill Decision.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Judge Landis sharply questioned counsel for the government yesterday concerning the form of two perjury indictments that were under attack in his court.

They were against Daniel J. Schuyler Jr. and Charles Weinfield, constituting the law firm of Schuyler & Weinfield, and were voted in connection with alleged falsification of their income tax schedule for 1916. Early in the hearing the government admitted that indictments based on the internal revenue act alone were outlawed, and the argument of Attorney Alfred S. Austin, for the defense, then centered upon the indictments for perjury under the criminal code which were voted at the same time.

Judge Is Puzzled.

One of his chief points was that his clients were accused solely of reporting an incorrect figure as the amounts they owed the government as income tax for 1916. He contended there is nothing in the law requiring citizens to swear in the amounts they owe the government and that the oath used in the income tax schedule blanks provided by the government certifies to the correctness of only the figures concerning gross income, deductions, and exemptions.

"Why was their indictment drawn this way?" asked the court. "Why, if there were omissions, were they not sworn to?" There was a thing as big as this federal building and around which one had to walk in order to draw this indictment this way.

Counsel Doesn't Know.

"I don't know," replied Miles J. Purcell of Saginaw, Mich., who recently was appointed special counsel for the government in this case. "I was not connected with the case at that time."

"Neither do I," said the court. Later he returned to the same point. "The man who drew this indictment must have had the statute before him," he said. "Why did this thing not charge the offense committed in the precise phrasing of the law? Haven't you the slightest notion?"

Mr. Purcell said he understood the indictment was prepared hurriedly and that haste might have caused some one to overlook the point emphasized by the judge.

Taken Under Advisement.

Judge Landis took the matter under advisement without indicating when he will make his ruling.

Inquiry at the district attorney's office brought a statement that the indictment under fire was drawn by James E. Glass Jr., former first assistant district attorney, and now United States commissioner.

SEIZE BARRY AS ROBBER CHIEF FOR "BIG TIM"

Underworld Triangle Is Crooks' Waterloo.

With the arrest yesterday of John Barry, sought for many months as the man who led the gang actually engaged in the $375,000 Dearborn station mail robbery last April, for which "Big Tim" Murphy and three others were recently convicted, there was revealed a drama of the lives and loves of the underworld.

Barry was taken by detectives while eating breakfast in his home at 3321 West Congress street yesterday morning. Mrs. Dolly Wendell Barry, who is said to be his wife, was arrested at the same time.

Learn of "Hide Out."
A short time after the Dearborn robbery the postal inspectors learned that Barry and Harold Watkins, alias "Fat," were keeping out of sight. The two men were said to be friends of Murphy through their labor activities.

JOHN BARRY.

When the inspectors learned this they began investigations, and through data obtained from the bureau of identification the men were identified by the driver of the small truck as members of the robber gang. A search was made, but failed.

Two weeks ago Mrs. Bernice Andrews, wife of a taxi driver living at 329 Stanley terrace, told the police of an attempt made on her life two days before, when she said, she had been kidnapped by two men and a woman in their automobile.

Mysterious Auto Ride.
"One of the men told me they wanted me to point out to them the place where they could find a man they called Frank Schultz," she told the police.

"One of the men said he was looking for Schultz because he had been trying to steal his wife."

"They drove me around the city trying to make me tell where Schultz was. I had never heard of such a man. Then after two hours they let me go home."

Sleuths on the Trail.
She gave the police the number of the auto. Lieut. William Schumaker found it to have been issued to Mrs. Barry, with the address of 3822 Franklin boulevard. When detectives went to the address no one by that name could be found. Neighbors told them a Mrs. Barry and husband had moved a month before. The furniture had gone in a "red truck."

In the meantime James La Salle and his wife, Helen, 4022 West Monroe street, had been arrested on a description given by Mrs. Andrews. They confessed they had been in the automobile but were only assisting John Barry and Mrs. Barry in the search for Schultz. They said Barry was out to kill Schultz because of the attention he had bestowed on Barry's wife.

La Salle and his wife were held for a month and attempt to kill. They were later fined.

The Red Truck Clew.
The detectives had only one clue left, the "red truck," which was said to have been used in moving the Barrys. It was said to be owned by a

"BIG TIM" MURPHY AND COSMANO ARE RELEASED ON BONDS

Timothy D. "Big Tim" Murphy, convicted of conspiracy and receiving stolen government property in connection with the Dearborn station mail robbery last April, was released yesterday on $50,000 bonds, pending an appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Vincenzo Cosmano, a fellow conspirator, was released on $40,000 bail. Edward Geirun, the third man found guilty, is still in custody.

mover near Halsted and Harrison streets.

Sergeant Stapleton made a canvass of that neighborhood and located the truck in a yard. A short time later he found a man who was driver at the time of the moving. The driver, however, said he had forgotten where he moved the couple.

He was taken on a tour of the city. The mover recognized the home at 3321 Congress street.

Suspects Are Found.
The detectives found Barry and his wife.

Barry jumped up when the detectives entered, but looked into the muzzle of three revolvers and surrendered.

In the house which was fitted up with rugs, divans, pictures, and which rivaled the homes of many along the "gold coast," was found a sawed-off shotgun, a long shotgun, two pistols, and many sounds of ammunition.

Barry was turned over to postal inspectors. He was identified in connection with the Dearborn robbery. Witnesses of the recent mail robbery at Paxton, Ill., will be asked to come in to try and identify him.

BOOK BINDERY PLANTS DECLARE FOR OPEN SHOP

Edison book bindery plants which turn out the bulk of the school books and bound fiction of the middle west voted yesterday to establish an "open shop" basis this morning. They had been shut down since Saturday night, after negotiations had reached the point of a compromise must be reached in two days in the wage controversy.

Yesterday the employers met officials of Bookbinders and Papercutters' union No. 8 in a conference which reached no settlement, and the vote for an "open shop" followed. It applies only to the bindery end of the establishments and it affects about 420 workers, according to union figures.

Firms in Open Shop.
The chief houses taking the action are the Robert O. Law company, W. B. Conkey company, M. A. Donahue company, Brock & Rankin, P. F. Pettibone & Co., the Engdahl bindery, the Godwin bindery. They are members of the Employing-Edison and Blank Book Manufacturers, a group which split from the closed shop division of the Franklin Typothetae last spring after the wage settlement.

The employers had suggested a referendum of the bindery workers on the alternative propositions of a 48 hour week with wage scale untouched or a 44 hour week with a reduction of $4.75 in pay. The union chiefs took the ground it was not a reason-

As one said: "A proposal of a cut of $2 or so would have been different, but, as framed by the employers the question was not in any spirit a compromise—it simply set forth their original demands."

Color Print Shop Closed.

Union color printing houses which went to an "open shop" basis at midnight Monday, were practically shut down yesterday, according to the unions.

Color process pressmen, being highly skilled precision workers, are not plentiful, union officials say, despite the general unemployment situation. The nine plants involved are figured by the unions to employ about 350 pressmen, 700 feeders, and not more than 25 compositors.

Today another wage conference will be held between the scale committee of Typographical Union No. 18 and the Franklin association, embracing the closed shops in the job printing industry. Tomorrow the scale committee of Printing Pressmen's Union No. 3 will meet similarly, and arrangements have been made for conferences this week with all the unions involved in the negotiations.

SMASH IN DOOR TO TAKE SUSPECT IN $75,000 THEFT

H. S. Dodson, alleged "fence" for bonds stolen in bank robberies, was arrested at the home of Grant Mayfield, on the third floor at 4917 Winthrop avenue, last night after Sergeant George DeMar and John Noonan had smashed in the door of the apartment. Dodson is suspected of having sold some of the $75,000 worth of bonds taken in the holdup of the banking firm of G. A. Blakeley company at Gallien, Mich., March 18, 1921.

Recently Dodson was forced by postal inspectors to turn back $50,000 in Liberty loan bonds, found in his vault, which were part of the loot of the Polk street station robbery for which "Big" Tim Murphy was sentenced.

ULSTER'S POWER TO WRECK IRISH PEACE NEAR TEST

Liverpool Meeting to Show Strength.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(Copyright 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The British people of all classes are more interested today in the meeting of the National Unionist party at Liverpool on Thursday than in the Washington conference.

The Liverpool meeting will determine whether the Ulster minority will be able to hold up the settlement of the Irish question which is conducive to Anglo-American ill feeling and may cause civil war in Ireland and England.

All the indications now point to little encouragement for the "die hards."

Andrew Bonar Law, on whom they had been depending to lead the party, announced today that his health will not permit him to go to Liverpool. As a result they will be left with the leadership of Col. John Grettton and Gen. Henry Page Croft, Tories who led the attack on the government in the house of commons.

Say Craig Favors Compromise.

A member of the cabinet said this afternoon the "die hards" were on the run and that they would not be able to muster a corporal's guard at Liverpool. It is hoped that when this is realized in Ulster, Sir James Craig, who is said to be honestly desirous of a fair compromise, may be able to induce his followers to allow him to lead in this direction. At the moment there seems to be little disposition to follow such a course.

Mr. Andrews, the Ulster minister of labor, who returned to Belfast from London today, said to a TRIBUNE correspondent:

"We have informed his majesty's government that we are not prepared to admit the ascendancy of any parliament other than the imperial one over ours or to agree to reserved services being transferred to a parliament of all Ireland, which undoubtedly would be controlled by those who boast that they are enemies of the empire. Our prime minister and his colleagues have pointed out to the government in the clearest possible way that any discussion based on a parliament for all Ireland must prove fruitless, and we have asked that this proposal be withdrawn before any conference takes place between his majesty's government and the Ulster cabinet."

Reply to Lloyd George Held Up.

Sir James Craig has not replied to Prime Minister Lloyd George's note telling him the proposal for two Irish dominions was not acceptable. A deposition of seven southern Unionists, led by Lord Middleton, called on Mr. Lloyd George today urging him to maintain his fight for the unity of Ireland.

The Sinn Fein delegates, who have been spending the week-end in Dublin, returned to London today and they may meet the prime minister tomorrow, although this meeting, too, may be delayed over Thursday.

FOR BERLIN?

ALANSON B. HOUGHTON.
(Photo Copyright: Harris & Ewing.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Following the signing by President Harding yesterday of the peace proclamation, declaring war between America and Germany at end, it was made known at the White House today that the American ambassador to Germany probably will be named before the end of this week. Inquiry will be made as to whether the man selected is persona grata to Germany.

While there has been no official announcement from any source, the name of Representative Alanson B. Houghton of Corning, N. Y., member of the house ways and means committee, is most prominently mentioned for the post.

Mr. Houghton was born at Cambridge, Mass., fifty-eight years ago. He graduated from Harvard, the University of Göttingen, Berlin, and the Paris university. He speaks French and German.

WOOD'S MOVES IN MANILA CRISIS MENACE QUEZON

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(Copyright 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.)

MANILA, Nov. 15.—The political atmosphere in the Philippines, which was somewhat clouded as a result of some opposition in the senate to Gov. Leonard Wood's appointments, is now clearing. Sergio Osmeña, one of the two strongest figures in the politics of the islands, says all difficulties have been settled.

It is said much of the trouble arose because Gov. Wood consulted Mr. Osmeña, who is the president of the house of representatives and head of the Nationalist party, and Mr. Palma, the temporary president of the senate in the absence of Manuel Quezon who is ill.

Mr. Palma is an Osmeña man, and many think Quezon's absence will enable Mr. Osmeña to establish himself as the dominant figure in the Philippines.

Mr. Quezon wired from his sick bed an exclusive statement to THE TRIBUNE. The statement follows:

"I have nothing to give out regarding the alleged opposition in the senate to Gov. Wood's appointments, except to deny it, for as far as I am informed the senate has not taken that attitude. Some of Gov. Wood's nominations already have been confirmed. His action being quicker than it has been customary for the senate to act in matters of that sort. Those pending are, as I understand, simply being carefully considered, and I am sure that the merits and demerits alone of each case will determine the action of the senate."

"All my information shows that the senate desires to cooperate with Gov. Wood and will give him its support as far as it conscientiously can."

A group of Filipinos, mostly connected with labor organizations, are forming a new political party which is called the Liberal Nationalist. The avowed purpose is to split the Nationalist party, which now rules Filipino politics. The founders of the party say they expect to get Mr. Quezon's support, but this is denied by persons in close touch with the leader.

WORLD'S FUTURE UP TO CHURCHES, PRESIDENT SAYS

Scrap Ships or Civilization,
M. E. Prelates Reply.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.
Detroit, Mich., Nov. 15.—"If the churches fail in their high and holy task there is small hope for civilization."

This was the message sent by President Harding to the National Conference on the World's Needs, held under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal church, which began a three days' session here this morning in the Central Methodist Episcopal church.

"Better to scrap ships than scrap civilization," was one of the striking sentences in the official reply sent by the conference to the President.

President Harding's letter was read by Bishop U. S. McDowell of the Washington area, formerly bishop of the Chicago area. There were present twenty-five bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church and 3,000 delegates. Two auditoriums were filled and all addresses were made twice, once in each auditorium.

Bishop McDowell speaks.
P. Berry, formerly of Chicago, the senior bishop in point of election of the church, presided. Bishop McDowell, after reading President Harding's letter, made the keynote address of the conference.

Bishop Theodore S. Henderson of the Detroit area then conducted the communion service, assisted by other bishops.

"Your centenary movement has more than ordinary interest for me," President Harding's message said. "I lived for many years in the country adjoining Wyandotte, O., in which John Stewart preached to the Indians as long ago, and have visited many times at Upper Sandusky, the spot sacred to the Methodist church by his significant labors."

"You did well to commemorate that early movement by large, world wide plans, as expressed in the centenary movement for the establishment of Christianity more firmly at home and more extensively abroad."

Depends on church.
"The world was never before in such need of right morals, right ideals, right relations among men and nations, and sound religion in personal, social, and public life. If the churches fail in their high and holy task there is small hope for civilization."

The reply of the conference to President Harding read by Dr. North said in part:

"The millions whom we represent, with those other multitudes who bear the name of Christian, shared with their fellow citizens in the contest of arms and the sacrifice of money to free the world by war, with greater ardor today we share the purpose of the enlightened leaders of the nations to free the world from war."

"We hold with you, it is better to scrap ships than to scrap civilization. We can spare our arsenals, our schools we cannot spare. To disarm is to blind. We believe that the sun of this new day will not set before humanity's mandate against war has become a decree of the nations which can have no appeal."

Athletics as a means of physical, social, and moral improvement received praise from several speakers.

The Rev. Lynn Harold Hough, formerly president of Northwestern university, is chairman of the entertainment committee and will be one of the speakers at Thursday's session.

Senators Charge Rule of Politics.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—Demands were made in the senate today for a congressional investigation of charges that Postmaster General Hays disregards the rights of ex-service men in selecting postmasters.

Senator Fletcher of Florida, Democrat, brought the question before the senate by reading a telegram he received from Mayor George R. Lunn of Schenectady, N. Y., stating that Edwin G. Conde had been appointed postmaster of Schenectady, notwithstanding two veterans of the world war were eligible. Mayor Lunn wanted to know whether the law giving preference to ex-service men in the appointment of postmasters was still in effect.

Wants Confirmation Held Up.
He characterized the failure to name a former service man in Schenectady as "a glaring disregard of the rights of ex-service men" and requested the senate to hold up confirmation of Conde until all the facts concerning the appointment could be laid before the post-office committee.

Senator Fletcher replied to Mayor Lunn that while the Democratic administration had given preference to soldiers, "the present postmaster general holds the set of congress does not apply to postmasters."

The Florida senator told the senate of an instance in his own state where an honorably discharged disabled soldier was the only eligible one for postmaster appointment following civil service examination. Because the eligible was a Democrat, Senator Fletcher said, the postmaster general had ordered a new examination to be held with a view to getting a Republican named.

Says People Will Resist It.
"The American people will resist this treatment of the ex-soldier and will resist it regardless of party," Senator Fletcher said.

Senator King of Utah, Democrat, called for a thorough investigation. "I think a congressional investigation should be made of the postmaster general to see whether partisanship of this character is going to rule," Senator King said. "It is a shameful exhibition."

Senator Fletcher had the matter referred to the postoffice committee.

CROWE CHARGES MAYOR HAMPERS HIS VICE FIGHT

Letter Reveals He Intends
a "Finish Battle."

State's Attorney Crowe came out with the flat statement yesterday that the city administration is hampering him in his war on "open and protected" vice and gambling in Chicago. The charge was made in a letter to the city council finance committee. The letter followed hard on the heels of reports from Mayor Thompson's camp at West Baden that peace between the prosecutor and the chief was at hand. Mr. Crowe's statement dispelled any idea of that kind and left in its place the belief that he is in the fight to a finish.

The charge created a panic among aspirant candidates on the city hall next spring, for with the breach between the mayor and Mr. Crowe growing wider and coalition among their foes in sight they feel their chances of winning are slim.

Mayor's Silence Ominous.

In addition to Mr. Crowe's statement they had the mayor's silence to worry about. Before he went to West Baden he had promised that a statement from him would bring the glad tidings that all was well. The statement wasn't made. Then it was promised after the days had conferred at West Baden. And still it didn't come. It is now promised for some time in the future. All this is taken as evidence there is to be no peace.

Friends of Mr. Crowe insist he will stand pat in his war against the "open town," and that he will listen to no peace pleas until there is a public repudiation of the statements the prosecutor interpreted as impugning his motives. Indications from West Baden are that the mayor will stand by the chief in his refusal to make such apology. It was even rumored that he will order his partisans in council to lead the fight against a proposed ordinance giving the prosecutor the control of police assigned to his office.

Here Is Crowe's Letter.

It was in connection with this ordinance that the letter to the finance committee before which the ordinance was pending was written. The letter, addressed to Ald. Richter, chairman of the committee, follows:

"Dear Alderman Richter: At the last meeting of the city council Ald. Samuel O. Shaffer, introduced an ordinance in reference to the assignment of police to the state's attorney's office.

MISS JEAN MACKINNON was one of three Canadian girls, all nurses at the United States Public Health Service hospital at 47th street and Drexel boulevard, who became citizens of this country at a ceremony in Judge Landis' court yesterday. The other girls are Miss Grace Steel and Miss Maude Canute.

Maj. J. Hartman was the official representative of the American Legion at the naturalization ceremony, which ordinance was referred to the finance committee.

"The recent action of the chief of police in reference to the police now assigned to my office and the present apparent attitude of the city administration in reference to the same hampers me greatly in my efforts to suppress open and protected gambling, prostitution, and other forms of vice."

"It is important, if my office is to suppress open prostitution and gambling, that there be no uncertainty in my right to use the police officers assigned to my office for that purpose."

"I respectfully urge you and the other members of the finance committee to give this ordinance consideration at the earliest possible moment and respectfully ask that I be permitted to appear before the committee and be heard upon the matter."

BOY SCOUTS TO SHOW SKILL AT ARMORY FRIDAY

At the First Infantry armory, Friday night, a competitive drill and rally by representatives of the 10,000 Boy Scouts of Chicago will be held. Signaling, first aid, fire making, knot tying, tug of war, and wall scaling will be among the events put on by 200 picked youngsters.

Crack teams from each of the seven districts of the city will compete for highest honors. Brig. Gen. Leffoy T. Steward and Maj. George F. Lee will be the judges.

Col. Boite, has made the First Infantry armory available for the occasion, and those interested in boys, and scouting are invited.

GRAIN BROKER IS EXPELLED BY BOARD OF TRADE

E. B. Conover of Springfield, Ill., was expelled from membership in the Chicago Board of Trade by the directors yesterday on a charge of dishonorable conduct, and his membership, valued at $6,800, was ordered forfeited. The action of the board followed charges that he had loaded grain out of an elevator at Peoria and failed to conceal the warehouse receipts. It was understood heavy losses were suffered by the holders of the latter.

The firm of E. B. Conover & Co. operated extensively in the Springfield and Peoria territory. Early this year it became financially embarrassed and went out of business. The firm late in 1920 and early in 1921 had large quantities of corn sold to the east and carried the grain unhedged. The bad break in the market caused the eastern buyers to refuse to take a delivery on their purchases, resulting in heavy losses.

GERALDINE WAS CRUEL, BEAT HIM, IS LOU'S CHARGE

Woke Him at Night to Read Him Poems.

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Lou Tellegen's answer to Geraldine Farrar's counter claim for divorce is summarized in this sentence: "She made life unbearable for me." Tellegen is quoted by his lawyer, Harry N. Steinfield, as saying: "In my suit I shall charge extreme cruelty. I never knew when she would attack me. I was not only locked out of my home, but I was continually beaten and slapped. My life was made most uncomfortable."

Among the items which Tellegen is prepared to inject into the court hearings is Geraldine's alleged habit of waking him up in the middle of the night in order to read to him passages from a most affectionate letter. Lou is said to have a fondness for good poems, but not in the middle of the night. Geraldine, he avers, was cruel to him to break into his sleep and pour forth the affectionate poetry.

Resents Misconduct Charges. Tellegen is represented by an attorney as being deeply grieved by Miss Farrar's charges of misconduct against him. He resents the imputation that he was guilty of unbecomingly conduct with women "in almost every state in the union."

Tellegen is preparing to ask the Supreme court to dismiss Miss Farrar's counter suit and to insist that his claim for a divorce be upheld. He is ready to present supplemental charges against his wife.

Tellegen, like Miss Farrar, is keeping himself hid from reporters. He is said to have cancelled his tour in "Blind Youth" in order to devote his time to his entangled marital and court affairs.

Many Women Involved. Samuel Untermyer, attorney for Miss Farrar, stands pat on the charges against Tellegen. He is quoted today as follows: "It is rubbish that we name only one woman. Counsel for Tellegen has declared that when we charged he was unfaithful to his wife in every state in the union 'we had in mind only one woman, and that she was a member of his company on tour with him throughout the country."

"There were a number of women, as a matter of fact."

Miss Farrar opened the Metropolitan's annual series of operas at the Brooklyn academy before a large audience this evening, singing her familiar role in "Carmen." Miss Farrar's name also led today's announcements of the season's second week on Broadway, when she will reappear Monday night in "Louise."

BLIND, HANGS SELF.

Robert Herring, 64, of 2736 Florence avenue, a retired barber, was found dead yesterday afternoon, his body suspended from a rope tied to a support above a door in his home. A daughter told police her father had been blind for the past two years and had become despondent. Herring was a widower.

INDIANA YOUTH TAKEN HERE WITH GIRL AS SLAVER

Harry Everts, 19 years old, a LaPorte, Ind., taxicab driver, was arrested in a rooming house at 1731 West Monroe street last night by Sergts. Patrick Mulvihill of the detective bureau and J. H. Conley of the Gary police department. Also taken into custody at that address was Nora Urtas, 16 years old, who ran away from her home in Gary two weeks ago.

Everts, it is alleged, brought the girl to Chicago for immoral purposes. It is alleged he is one of the leaders in a band of taxicab drivers in Gary, Hammond, East Chicago, and other Indiana towns who make a business of transporting women from Indiana to Chicago and from Chicago to Indiana towns.

Federal officials will be given the evidence in the case today.

CONFEREES GIVE AND TAKE CUTS IN TAX MEASURE

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Conferees of the senate and house on the revenue bill agreed to the elimination and reduction of various miscellaneous excise taxes today. The house conferees accepted practically all the senate amendments which repeated or reduced miscellaneous taxes and, in a few instances, the senate receded from amendments which imposed taxes not included in the house bill.

Repeal of the tax on articles made of fur, which is 10 per cent in the present law, and had been retained at 5 per cent in the house.

Repeal of the tax on pianos and other musical instruments, which is 5 per cent in the present law, and had been retained at that figure in the house bill.

Repeal of the 3 per cent tax on chewing gum.

Elimination of the proposed 4 per cent manufacturers' tax on perfumes and toilet waters, which was offered in the senate bill as a substitute for the retail tax on perfumes repealed by the house bill.

Reduction in the tax on candy from 5 to 3 per cent.
Retention of present taxes of 5 per cent of manufacturers' sales of automobiles, and 3 per cent of sales of trucks.
Retention of present 10 per cent tax on cameras and 5 per cent tax on photographic films and plates.
Retention of 10 per cent tax on fire-arms, shells, and cartridges, hunting and bowie knives, cigar or cigarette holders, and pipes, automatic slot device vending machines, liveries, and livery boots and hats, hunting and shooting garments, and motor boats and yachts.

In considering beverage taxes the conferees passed over without action the Wadsworth amendment approved by the senate imposing taxes on medicinal beer, wine, and whiskey.

The house conferees accepted senate amendments applying to taxes on fountain sirups, but made the tax 9 cents a gallon, instead of 7½ in the senate bill and 10 cents in the house bill.

Another Reduction in Goodrich Tire Prices

Including Silvertown Cords and Inner Tubes

On May 2, 1921, Goodrich Tire prices were reduced twenty per cent. This reduction, made at the very opening of the motor-ing season, was received with great enthusiasm by automobile owners from coast to coast.

The B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company now announces a further drastic reduction in prices effective November 15.

A 32x4 Silvertown Cord costs today at these new prices $32.40. The price of this tire last April was $52.30. The saving is $19.90.

A 30x3½ Safety Fabric now costs $13.75. The price in April was $20.00. The saving is $6.25, or $25 on a set of four tires.

Corresponding reductions apply on all other sizes and types of Goodrich Fabric Tires, Silvertown Cords and Inner Tubes, as well as all types of motor truck tires.

11 JURORS TO TRY "FATTY" PASSED BY ATTORNEYS

Fat Film Star's Case May Begin Today.

BY EDWARD DOHERTY.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—But one juror is needed to complete the panel which will try "Fatty" in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe, Chicago movie actress.

The seven women and six men have already been passed temporarily and will be sworn in tomorrow unless perfectly challenged.

The jurors who have been examined and who will be sworn in, unless eliminated by peremptory challenge, are: J. C. Medley, August Fritz, John Dierks, Henry J. Reef, George R. Morgan, Sidney A. Goldtree, Mrs. Edith Unsworth, Mrs. Anna Butler, Mrs. Helen Hubbard, Mrs. L. E. Sanden, and Mrs. Kitty McDonald.

Both Pleaded by Panel.
Deputy District Attorney Milton Urban and Gavin McNab, chief of counsel for Arbuckle, have found the panel good. Only four have been dismissed out of sixteen called.

One juror was dismissed this afternoon because he said that medical testimony tending to show Miss Rappe had chronic bladder trouble would prejudice him against the defendant if that testimony tended to show her condition was the result of immorality. It is over this juror and his prejudice that the lawyers are wrangling.

"Fatty" laughs and confides something funny to Charles Brennan's left ear. He reminds you of the irrepressible fat boy in school who shoots sly paper wads and dips the girls' braids in ink.

Quaint Questions Asked.
The thought sticks. The courtroom becomes a schoolroom. The lawyers become assistant tutors to the judge. They examine the scholars in the jury box. One might think the scholars particularly dull, from the questions asked. It seems to be visitors' day. The schoolroom is crowded, stuffy.

McNab asks a question—something about keeping witnesses in cold storage. The scholar answers. Urban asks a question—something about putting witnesses on a hot grill. Cruel and unusual, you imagine.

There's Fatty's wife out there, with a new costume. Hat with blue and gold stripes of silk with a band of fur running all around the rim.

The judge asks the lawyers to quit being witty, to get down to impaneling a jury.

Familiar words—medical testimony—reflection on dead girl's morals—approaching witnesses—reasonable doubt—circumstantial evidence—victims—even people leading exemplary lives—can have bladder trouble—over all over again.

Hang! Bang! Bang! It's the ballist. Court is adjourned for the day.

BANDITS GET BLAME FOR DEATH CAUSED BY POLICE BULLET

Although the shot which killed William Frank, Standard Oil company filling station man, Monday night, was fired by a policeman, a coroner's jury yesterday recommended that two bandits be held to the grand jury on

JOSEPH SHEAN. Charges of murder.

The shooting occurred in a filling station at Addison and Western avenues. Patrolman James McGrath fired at one of the bandits, John Shean. The bullet passed through Shean's arm, struck a safe, glanced, and fatally wounded Frank in the abdomen.

For several hours it was believed the fatal shot was fired through the glass of the station by Shean's accomplice, seated in a motor car outside. The alleged accomplice, Andrew Baile, was arrested early yesterday.

The jurors said after the verdict that, although the policeman's bullet killed Frank, it was fired to stop a holdup, and that the situation was the same as if the bandits themselves had shot and killed the manager.

McGrath of the North Robey street station who shot Shean, was last night promoted to the rank of temporary sergeant in an order issued by Chief Fitzmorris. His pay will be increased $400 a year.

MINE STRIKE HANGS ON U. S. COURT ACTION

The issue which caused a walkout two weeks ago of 35,000 coal miners in central states will come to the fore in Chicago today, when the United States Court of Appeals considers the temporary injunction against the check-off system of deducting union dues from miners' pay, issued by District Judge A. B. Anderson of Indianapolis.

Whether the protest strike, which was called off when the appeal hearing was granted Nov. 3, is to be redeclared may depend on action taken by the appellate court today. Union leaders say a country-wide coal miners' strike cannot be averted if the Anderson injunction is made permanent. They maintain continuation of the check-off system is their only hope of collecting union dues and other assessments. Illinois operators have awaited to day's hearing to determine their policy.

Owes 23 Chicago Firms, Says Iowan, Bankrupt

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Twenty-three coat and suit houses of Chicago were named as creditors by Isaac Shapiro, proprietor of the Schultz Coat and Suit house, who filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today. He scheduled liabilities of $40,349 and assets of $32,329, of which he claimed exemption on $11,500. He also scheduled debts to seventy-three New York and seven St. Louis firms. This is the biggest failure in Cedar Rapids since the war.

TUBERCULOSIS CURE MAY LIE IN CHEMICALS

"Science is coming much nearer to the discovery of a cure for tuberculosis," Dr. Lydia M. De Witt of Ricketts' laboratory, University of Chicago, told members of the American Academy of Sciences at the closing session of the academy at the university yesterday.

"Experiments for the last seven years show methylene blue dye destroys tuberculosis germs," said Dr. De Witt. "Certain derivatives of mercury have the same effect. We are experimenting with ways to combine these destructive elements, but so far have been unsuccessful. When combined rightly I am sure a cure for tuberculosis will have been found."

ITALIAN HERO TO ARRIVE IN CITY SUNDAY

Elaborate Reception for Gen. Diaz Planned.

With a reception little less elaborate than that accorded Marshal Foch, Gen. Armando Diaz, commander in chief of the armies of Italy since November, 1917, will be welcomed in Chicago next Sunday.

Waiting to greet the Italian soldier at the Union station at 9 o'clock in the morning will be his countryman, G. Dall'Agnoli, acting Italian consul, with committees of prominent Italians and representatives of the foreign colony. An escort of infantry, cavalry, and artillery from Fort Sheridan, under command of Maj. Gen. George Bell Jr., and units of sailors from Great Lakes will accompany the visitor to the Congress hotel.

Will Attend Mass.

The general will attend mass at the Holy Family church, at 10 o'clock, and will be accompanied by the Rev. Archbishop Mundelein who will greet him in the name of all the Catholics in the city.

Following the services, Gen. Diaz will be introduced to the faculty of Loyola university, where the Rev. Father Agnew will confer upon him the honorary degree of doctor of laws. The parade will start at 1:30 o'clock at the Randolph street market, proceeding to Michigan avenue, then turning south. City, county, state, and military officials will occupy the reviewing stand with the general. Past them will march former service men of foreign armies and units from the American army and navy. Capt. B. Nerone, an Italian war hero, decorated with four silver crosses and the Cross of War, will march the parade.

Full Monday Program.

Dr. Antonio Lagorio will serve as toastmaster at the banquet in the general's honor at the Congress hotel at 7 o'clock. Gen. Diaz Monday in Chicago will be taken up with a visit to Lincoln park, to lay wreaths on the statues of Lincoln and Garibaldi, a luncheon given by the Association of Commerce, a trip to the stockyards, and a reception at the University of Chicago.

DIPHTHERIA EPIDEMIC FEARED.
Reports of seventeen cases of diphtheria in the first fifteen days of November in Brantwood have aroused Health Commissioner G. T. Rooms. He warns parents to give medical care to school children and announces that as rapidly as possible, culture will be taken from the throats of all children in the schools.

1,000 RIOT IN BERLIN; PLUNDER GROCERY STORES

High Prices and Cheap Money Cause Raid.

BY GEORGE SELDES.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.)

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Predictions by economic experts that there would be serious riots this winter in consequence of the increase in the prices of all foodstuffs were verified this morning when a crowd of 1,000 invaded and plundered the grocery and butcher shops in Neukölln, a workingman's suburb of Berlin. The crowd seized stocks of butter, cheese, eggs, bread and other foodstuffs and under the direction of unemployed commenced a general attack on all the shops in the town.

Police were sent to quell the disorder. The crowd fled. None of the raiders were captured. Additional attacks are expected tonight, so a strong cordon of police was placed around the affected district.

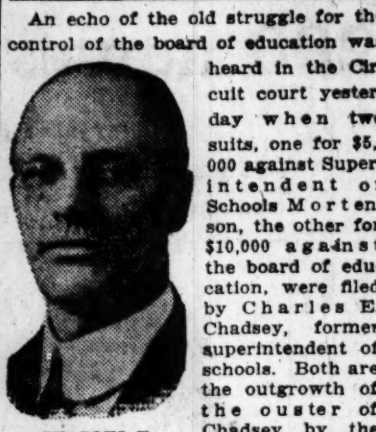

The blame for high prices popularly is attributed to the high rate of the dollar, although the gulden, pound and franc proportionately are as high.

A prominent director of the Deutsche bank, speaking of the situation, said to THE TRIBUNE correspondent:

"The other night I showed my wife a lamp post on which I expect to be hanged unless prices cease rising."

The government issued a decree today announcing that articles of daily need no longer can be exported as personal baggage without an export license. The measure was designed to counteract the extensive purchases of small articles by foreigners, chiefly

U. S. ROAD FUND WILL GIVE JOBS TO 150,000 MEN

30 States to Get $76,400,000 Grant.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—Construction of highways to the total value of $76,400,000, covering 6,261 miles, and employing more than 150,000 workers, is about to be undertaken by thirty states as the result of the recent passage of the federal highway act, it was stated today.

This is the act recommended by the President's conference on unemployment as an emergency measure to provide for the jobless.

The figures as to the amount of work which could be undertaken by the states in highway construction were supplied by the governors in response to letters sent them by Secretary

Hoover, who is chairman of the conference.

According to the act, which created a fund of $75,000,000 to be apportioned among states taking advantage of the ninety days' period, each state will be entitled to receive, on the basis of the value of its work, the specified federal allotment. Part of this allotment is available now and part on Jan. 1. These amounts are in addition to the allotments given under the provisions of former federal aid acts.

Estimates show that $40,000 will be the average amount per mile expended by the states. When the work is completed and approved by the federal inspector the state will receive back from the government about $30,000 per mile.

How this state undertaking will affect the general condition of unemployment can be estimated from the replies received here from governors. Texas can employ 13,500 workers on an $8,000,000 road building job, covering 700 miles within the ninety days required. Georgia can provide 3,000 men with jobs on a $5,000,000 undertaking, covering 360 miles of roads. Indiana can use 5,500 men; Michigan, 5,500; Ohio, 5,500; North Carolina, 5,000; Minnesota, 4,350; Louisiana, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Mississippi, 4,000 each.

HOPPE SETS PACE FOR CUE TOURNEY IN BRILLIANT WIN

GAMES TODAY

1 o'clock—Schaefer and Conti.
4 o'clock—Hoppe and Sutton.
5:30 o'clock—Horemans and Cochran.

BY JOE DAVIS.

The defeat of Edouard Horemans by Ora C. Morningstar, a finely fought match on which Young Jake Schaefer upset the veteran George Sutton, and a great display of caroms by Willie Hoppe, who overcame a lead of 150 to defeat Roger Conti, featured the second day's play in the world's 18-2 ball-line championship at the Congress hotel.

It was a case of Willie Hoppe, positive, comparative, and superior in the matter of averages. Morningstar in defeating the Belgian south-paw, 400 to 171, averaged 36 4-11 in the opening game; Schaefer in winning from Sutton, 400 to 260, averaged 27 1-7, and Champion Hoppe in out-pointing Conti, 400 to 185, put the high average mark for the series up to 68 4-6.

Records Likely to Bow.
Judging by these performances there is a possibility of several tournament records being broken. Seven century runs were recorded, Schaefer getting 187 and 144 unfinished, Hoppe 175 and 143, Conti 150, Sutton 148, and Morningstar 145.

Horemans' first defeat does not necessarily eliminate him from the running, but he must show a great reversal of form to win out. He plainly was nervous and the massed shot, his chief asset, went sadly awry in his first few attempts.

There were thrills in the afternoon games, but Conti furnished the big one when he faced Hoppe before a packed house at night.

"The champion missed his first shot and Conti scored got the balls under control and by a careful display ran 150. His close work was good, and he had the speed of the table down fine on his long drives. He missed a massed shot and sat down amid a great round of applause.

Here was a situation the fans had been looking for—to have Hoppe extend himself. Probably never in his career had he faced a deficit of 150 at the end of the first inning.

Rises to Occasion.
He rose to the occasion like a real champion, and, playing billiards which can be classed only as superb, he scored 150 points in twenty minutes, finally missing a spread shot at 175 after having made a great bank shot from a sharp angle.

All of this big run was made at the top of the table, and so perfect was his position play that he did not have a hard massed. He left the balls spread and Conti missed. Hoppe then ran 44, and was on easy street. Scores: HOPPE—0 175 40 143 2 34—400. Average, 68 4-6.

CONTI—150 0 30 0 2—185. Average, 27 1-7. Both Horemans and Morningstar were at ease when they opened, and they struggled along for seven innings, with a 60 by Horemans as high. Morningstar then led, 100 to 95. The American at last showed a flash of form, and ran 78, but Horemans, two innings later, got 63 and was nine behind.

Morningstar in his usual careful style, then ran 145, but fouled trying to make away from a frozen ball. Horemans missed and Ora went out. MORNINGSTAR—12 0 60 30 14 0 38 78 2 148 75—400. Average, 39 4-11.

HOREMANS—7 5 12 60 0 6 5 13 63 0—171. Average, 17 1-4.

Schaefer's Win Spectacular.

The second match in the afternoon was a real battle in which the veteran Sutton showed he has lost little of his skill. His line nursing was wonderfully close and he scored fast, but his fine work went for naught against the spectacular play of young Jake.

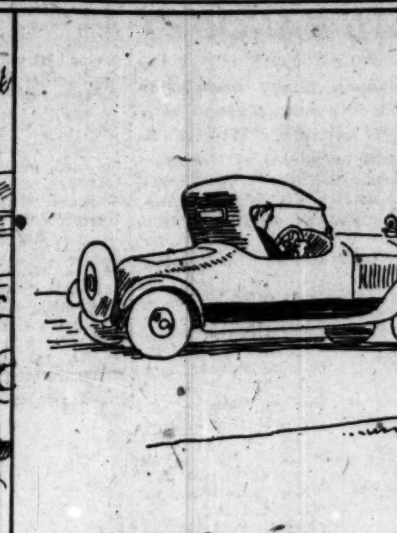

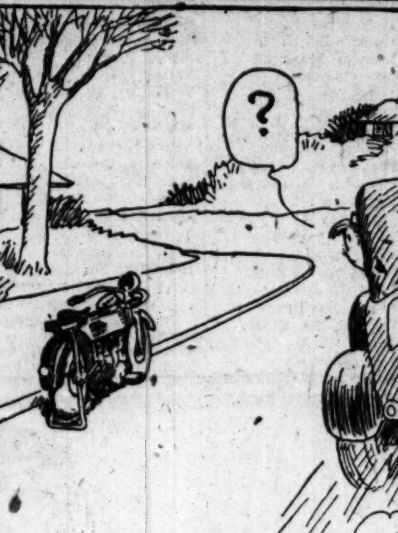

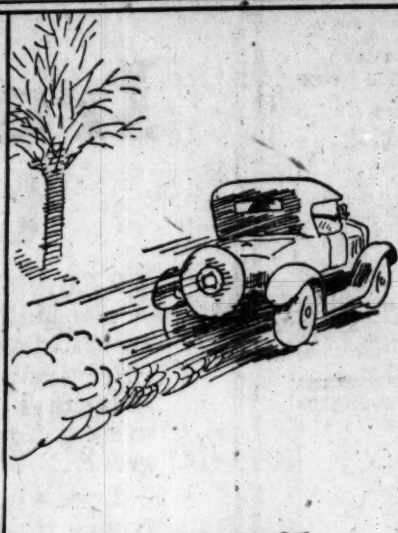

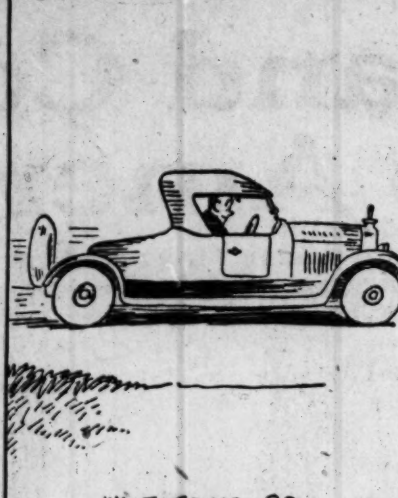

Sutton in his sixth inning led, 112 to 69, but then Jake by a great display ran 187 and missed a one cushion shot. Sutton opened with three hard shots, but finally gathered the balls and was soon in pursuit. At 144 he was on even terms with Jake. Four shots later he missed and did not get another shot.

SUTTON—2 17 84 8 0 1 148—200. Average, 37 1-7.

SCHAEFER—23 36 1 4 5 187 144—400. Average, 57 1-7.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

COLLEGE DEPARTMENT.

EAR WAKE: I have been wondering what happened to the "greatest backfield in the conference" when it met Michigan Saturday. You don't suppose the wind blown about it wafted up to Madison and was responsible for the freak touchdown which saved the Badgers from defeat, do you? Wolverine.

Down here in Oklahoma there are rumors that Connie Mack is in charge at Northwestern.

Just a line to let you know that only one Wisconsin regular lives outside the state and that is Gus Tebell from Aurora. All backfield regulars come from towns and learned their football at Madison. Wis. Alumnus.

Purdue '23 is right. The so-called weaker teams deserve more recognition. It takes a lot of faith and determination to get out there year after year, take a series of beatings, and come back for more. Wisconsin, '17.

The Promised Land.
Dreaming at the margin of the smoothly flowing stream.

Gazing at the far Kentucky shore, life visions shape and move against the amber gleam.

Pictures of the stirring days of yore. Here is where the Indian fighter drew his fatal blow.

Where the pirate led his fierce crew; Surely there remain, where flourished such a mighty breed,

Strong and potent spirits, yet today, CHORUS.

O, those wild Kentucky hills, How their nearest grips and thrills, As I vision there the moonshine, flowing from the busy stills.

Let us put across at once, Who would linger is a dunce; We will cool a burning gullet where no revenue hunts.

CHAMP MAY NAME HIS TERMS FOR MAT BOUT

Following the victory of Marin Piestina over John Peak in the wrestling bout Monday night in New York Doo Krone has wired Stanislaus Zbyszko in the west asking the pole whether he will meet Piestina in a match here in Chicago and giving the present heavy-weight champion his own terms for the engagement.

Krone has first call on Piestina's services for the next two months and plans to put on a big benefit here for some worthy cause. He says this will be Zbyszko's opportunity to show, first, that he does not fear Piestina, and, secondly, that the charge made by the World's War Veterans' association that he is unwilling to wrestle for charity is not true.

The serious situation of the wrestling game in Chicago but elsewhere, is not generally sensed by followers of the sport. The bout Monday night in New York did nothing to reinstate the sport with the state board of athletic control there and with equal assurance it may be said the game has suffered here and elsewhere.

Krone's proposition to Zbyszko will do much, however, to prove to the fans that the game has some good wrestlers and some redeeming features.

Morris Eleven to Face Strong Line in Hammonds
Hammond, which will inaugurate foot ball this season at White Sox ball park against the Morris Supremes on Sunday, will present a lineup well divided between former all-star players of athletic control there and with equal assurance it may be said the game has suffered here and elsewhere.

In Derr, former Pennsylvania back, the team possesses a man adept at running, kicking, and passing the ball. King, Walter Camp's all-American half back at Harvard, is a terrific line bluffer.

CAGNEY WINNER OF W. S. CUE TITLE
R. Cagney won the west side pocket championship in the state amateur tournament, defeating H. Ruth of the Fox room, 100 to 91, in the play-off of their tie at Henry's room last night. The nine district champions will meet in the semi-finals at Foley's Nov. 25 to 28.

NOTES OF THE CUE ROOM.
O'Brien defeated Barnes 1451, 65 to 43, in the pocket billiard tournament at Foley's last night. Tomorrow night, De Lorme 1601 plays Bourke 1601.

THE SPARROW QUESTION.
"In a recent article in your column you refer to the English sparrow as one member of the large sparrow family undeserving of indifference, all other sparrows being considered beneficial."

"A very large percentage of all the readers of your column agree with you on that point, especially those who are trying to attract the song birds to the cities. I know through my own observations that the common English sparrow will worry and fight the martins and wrens until they have them exhausted and discouraged."

"The sparrows in the cities have increased from year to year until they are a pest and a nuisance, and I think it is high time to do something to eliminate them or at least reduce their numbers. Now is the time to get after them with poison and trap."

KENOSHA FIGHT CARD APPROVED BY LIGINGER

Walter H. Liginger, secretary of the Wisconsin boxing commission, yesterday placed his stamp of approval upon the six boxers who will trade punches at Kenosha tomorrow night. Liginger came from Milwaukee and examined each boxer at the Arcade. He pronounced the contestants in good physical condition.

The boys completed hard training yesterday. All engaged in strenuous boxing work outside from going through the usual gymnasium exercises.

George Corbett of the stockyards, who will meet Jimmy Kelly in the main event, has been made favorite, and about 500 fans from the yards will be at the ringide.

In the semi-windup, Willie Green, who broke into boxing prominence at Great Lakes, will tackle Bud Christians, while Joe Mandell of Rockford and Harold Smith of the yards will swap punches in the ten round opener.

Tickets are on sale at 129 North Dearborn street and 153 North Clark street. At Bloom will run a special train over the Northwestern. It will leave the Madison street terminal at 6:40 o'clock.

SOX, GIANTS, PLAN SERIES IN SPRING

UNIFORM HANDICAPS RULE FOR LOCAL GOLF

The increasing number of invitation golf tournaments in Chicago has made the establishment of a uniform system of handicapping a necessity. At present the systems differ, and it is a difficult matter to rate properly visiting players in handicap events.

The Flossmoor club has given the matter thought, and at the annual meeting of the Chicago District Golf association on Dec. 5 will present the following set of rules:

1. That individual handicaps in each club of the association be based upon the five best scores made either in practice or competition during the current year.

2. That 80 per cent of the difference between the average of these five best scores and par of the course be the actual handicap allowed.

3. That entirely new handicaps be established each year.

As most of the invitation tournaments come in the last half of the season, the majority of players have established their club handicaps by that time.

Monahan Relected J. P. Head.
Tom Monahan has been relected president of the Jackson Park club as a tribute to his excellent administration for the last two years. Following is the full ticket:

President, T. J. Monahan; vice president, J. P. Stevens; secretary, J. J. Haggan; treasurer, K. L. Lewellyn; secretary, John A. McKewen; directors, Jasper Dresser, J. D. Hodi, H. E. Lyons, S. L. Scott, H. P. Shumaker, Edward Whetstone.

Evanston Club Election.
At the annual meeting an election of the Evanston Community Golf club the members' ticket triumphed over the regular nominees by a big majority. The new officers are as follows:

President, C. M. Cartwright; first vice president, Thomas P. Leahy; second vice president, C. N. Stevens; secretary, Peter N. Jans; treasurer, H. E. Chandler.

The meeting looked like a political convention of one of the big parties. 240 people attending.

Secretary Jans' report showed that 46,763 persons had used the course during the season.

PURPLE JUNIORS WIN CO-ED SWIM; SOPHS ALSO COP
Swamping the seniors, 45 to 24, the juniors won the first of a series of Northwestern girls' interclass swimming meets yesterday in Patten gymnasium. The sophomores easily defeated the freshmen, 42 to 28.

Natalie Puroell and Ruth Balke proved the star point makers of the junior team, each finishing first in two events and each placing in a third. Mary and Margaret Waddell, twins on the senior team led in the upper class fancy diving. The seniors were obliged to forfeit the relay to the juniors.

URBANA ILLINI SHOUT "WE ARE FOR HUFF FIELD"

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Illinois alumni, faculty, and students rose as one man today to applaud the suggestion in THE TRIBUNE that the university's new athletic field should be christened "Huff field" in honor of George A. Huff, director of athletics.

President David Kinley is for the idea. The president readily gave the following opinion:

"I believe it is most fitting for our somewhat newer universities to foster spirit and tradition by honoring the men who have left an impress upon them. George Huff in an unparalleled manner has left his impress upon not only the University of Illinois but the intercollegiate athletics of the country. I am for 'Huff field.'"

Dean's Voice Approval.

O. A. Harker, of the college of law, member of the board of athletic control, said:

"Of course, I favor the suggestion. It is most appropriate that the name of George Huff shall be imperishably connected with the new field and stadium."

Charles A. Kaler, '22, of Champaign, an alumnus member of the board of athletic control, said:

"I am heartily in favor of naming the new athletic field at Illinois 'Huff field' in honor of the long and faithful service given to his alma mater by George Huff. As one of his classmates in college and a lifelong friend, I know what he has done to keep us out of the pitfalls into which we surely would have fallen in the days when we apparently couldn't win."

"George Huff's judgment and level head enabled him to steer the Illinois ship through those dangerous years, and his rare good sense and even temper has made it possible for him to bring together and to hold the best lot of coaches in the country. Let it be the Illinois memorial stadium on Huff field."

Daily Illini Lauds Plan.

Donald La Fuzze, editor of the Daily Illini, said:

"No one who has ever known G. Huff and who has heard what the proposed stadium and recreation field accomplish for the University of Illinois, can refrain from associating field and man as 'Huff field.'"

"George Huff is respected throughout the United States not only as a builder of Illinois teams but as a power toward promoting clean sportsmanship in intercollegiate athletics. But to the long line of Illinois graduates the director of athletics is and always shall be just 'G.' big, kindly, generous, whole hearted and supremely fair. 'Huff field' is destined to be caught up on the tongues of all Illinois men. The field, to be one of the largest in the United States, will just fit the man."

MacDonald Praises Name.

P. W. MacDonald, president of the student union, said:

"George Huff is far more than a director of athletics. To the students of the University of Illinois he is almost a father. I am pretty sure that they will endorse the suggestion of THE TRIBUNE."

Members of Illinois athletic teams, leaders in the alumni, who reside in Champaign and Urbana, are about everybody else in town echo THE TRIBUNE's suggestion in statements just about the same as the foregoing.

Nobody seems to know just what official body will christen the new field. Some say it is the trustees who have the responsibility. Others say that the power rests with the campus plan-extension committee, selected by the board of trustees. Then again, it may be the board of athletic control, consisting of faculty men, alumni and students, which, subject to faculty approval, directs athletic policies."

Alumni Backing Name.

THE TRIBUNE's suggestion will be relayed to alumni by Editor Carl Stephens of the alumni fortnightly publication. After that it is dollars to doughnuts that THE TRIBUNE can have a barrel of letters endorsing the plan, if it wants 'em.

But that would be superfluous. Illini already is "sold." After listening to comments all day, the correspondent makes this prediction—it will be "Huff field."

TWO DISPUTES IN CITY PREP RACE COME UP TODAY

A preliminary hearing of the evidence gathered by officials of the Lane Tech High school against Lane Landbeck, Schurz player, was held yesterday at the office of E. C. Delaporte, athletic director of the Chicago High School Athletic League, and final decision was reserved until this afternoon.

After apparently having the Bowen-Tilden protest settled last Monday by ordering the teams to replay next Saturday, Bowen's director yesterday refused to abide by the decision of Director Delaporte, who ordered the replay, and another hearing will be held today after the Lane-Schurz dispute is settled.

Another settlement of the Bowen-Tilden difficulty over the south section honors, Marshall, unbeaten winner in the north section, is working in preparation for the league championship battle with either a week from Saturday.

Opals and Standards in Semi-Final Clash Sunday

The Opal A. A. will meet the West Side Standards Sunday, Nov. 20, at the park, 26th street and Kostner avenue. Kickoff at 2:30 p. m. Both teams represent the west side in the semifinals for the Righelmer trophy, emblematic of the heavyweight championship of the Midwest Football League. The Lafayette will open up at 1:30 p. m.

Illinois Alumni in Chicago Are in Favor of 'Huff Field'

Suggestion in THE TRIBUNE to name the field in which the Memorial Stadium of the University of Illinois stands, "Huff Field," has met with approval of well known Orange and Blue alumni living in Chicago.

"Great" was the ready answer of those asked about the idea. Some went on at great length to eulogize George Huff, honored and respected director of athletics at the downstate university, while others merely said it was the least the university could do for a man who has brought Illinois up among the leading athletic universities of the country.

"Fine idea," Carr.

"Nothing could be more fair," Robert F. Carr, trustee of the university said. "It would be a very fine thing and students, alumni, and others interested in the project would put their shoulders to wheel to help the movement. It would be a recognition of what George Huff has done for the university in his twenty-five years of service."

"Director Huff has always had a decided influence in promoting clean athletics. He has the respect and admiration of every student who ever came into contact with him and nothing would be more fitting and fair than to name the field in his honor."

Fred Lowenthal, probably the greatest center who ever wore an Orange and Blue football suit, is enthusiastic over the idea.

"Every man who ever played on an Illinois football team will get behind the movement to score a touchdown," Lowenthal said. "While Huff is a modest man who will protest, he will have nothing to say in the matter. The alumni and students should be urged to use their influence upon whatever body is entrusted with the naming of the field to have it called Huff field."

Brundage Favors Plan.

Avery Brundage, one of the greatest athletes ever turned out of the downstate institution, winner of the National championship in three different sports, is one of the prime movers to have the field named after the veteran athletic director.

"At our first Illinois meeting held in Chicago to make local arrangements for the stadium drive, I suggested we call it 'Huff field,' Brundage said. "I met with some opposition from those, who asserted money was being raised for the stadium, and it should be called such. After considerable discussion we agreed to table the matter and take final action after we had raised the necessary amount to insure the stadium. I am for 'Huff field' movement and will support it to the end."

McKeown Also Booster.

Laddy McKeown, a great hurdler, who won many points for Illinois in track events, and who lost a leg in the world war, is of the opinion that nothing more fitting could be done for the man who has done so much for Illinois athletics.

F. J. Lindberg, another well known Illinois track man of former years, is strongly in favor of the idea and it can be taken for granted that every other former athlete who ever wore Orange and Blue colors will look with favor upon THE TRIBUNE's suggestion.

BADGERS MAY "GET" MAROONS ON PASSES

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

When Chicago takes the field against Wisconsin on Saturday in what promises to be one of the hardest fought football games of the conference season, the Maroons will be called upon to stop one of the most advanced forward pass attacks seen on a gridiron this season, with the possible exception of the forward passing of Iowa, Ohio State, and Notre Dame.

Not only will the Badgers display a highly perfected aerial offense, but their straight attack, sprung behind unbalanced lines, may cause the Midway eleven some trouble. Coach John Richards has the men who can execute perfectly the best plays of the old and new game, and if they are at the top of their game Chicago will have to play the best football of which the team is capable to stave off defeat.

Formation to Protect Passes.

In successful execution of the forward pass Coach Richards has evolved a novel scheme. After the ball is snapped to the passer, the Badger line men charge through to take off the secondary defense. One of the forwards moves back to protect the passer, who delays as much as possible, because it is illegal to take off defense to the passer, the Badger line men charge through to take off the secondary defense. One of the forwards moves back to protect the passer, who delays as much as possible, because it is illegal to take off defense to the passer, the Badger line men charge through to take off the secondary defense.

Williams Fleet and Clever.

Williams is a mighty good back. He is fast and a clever dodger. He handles the ball safely and his returns of punts against the Wolverines are pleasing to watch. Elliott is also a good ball carrier, but in the Michigan game he did not display his customary dash and drive.

Capt. Guy Sundt is a reliable player, runs interference well, and generally takes off tacklers hard and clean. He also is a good punter, his attempts being high and generally well placed. Brumm and Brader are an ideal pair of tackles. The latter saved the Michigan game by partially blocking Dean's field goal attempt in the last forty seconds of play.

Although there is great power in the Wisconsin team, it must be on its toes to entertain hopes of winning from Chicago. The forwards cannot afford to permit Chicago to get the charge. If the Maroon forward wall outplays its opponents then the Maroons have a good chance to win. In other words, it will be up to the lines to decide the battle, as both teams have scoring attacks which are useless unless given the necessary protection by the linemen.

FOOTBALL CAMPS

ILLINOIS.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Facing the alert freshmen using Jack Wilcox's deceptive formations, Illinois resumed hard practice for the Buckeyes. The Ohio strategists proved puzzlers for the Illini and it is evident that Illinois is to stop the tricky Buckeye passes a lot of gray matter will have to be used on Illinois field before Thursday night. Chris Woodward is a cripple from a twist in the lumbar vertebrae and if he cannot sub for Crangle Saturday, Illini will be greatly weakened.

WISCONSIN.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The Badgers' practice today was spirited and hard. Both Frosh and All-Americans scrimmaging the varsity with well developed Chicago plays. All the regulars were in the lineup. Coach Richards has decided on a strenuous schedule for the last week of training in order that his team may be in top notch condition when it meets the Maroons. The followers of the Wisconsin team are going to be in Chicago in large numbers for the game. About a thousand students were turned away when the tickets allotted to Wisconsin were sold out.

MICHIGAN.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Coach Yost got down to real work this afternoon in preparation for the final game of the season with Minnesota. Dabner and Capt. Dunsen will be unable to play against the Badgers because of injuries received in the State game. The backs worked well against the freshmen varsity eleven, and their satisfactory work pleased the coaches.

MINNESOTA.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The Minnesota football squad put in a strenuous practice session this afternoon on a field covered with a foot of snow. The regulars to play against the Badgers are in line. Coach Williams continues to experiment with his lineup, and no one knows what his final choice will be.

IOWA.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 15.—Coach Jones put his men through a long, snappy practice today, using the Purdue lineup except that Kris went to right tackle on the second eleven. The regulars to play against the Badgers are in line. Coach Williams continues to experiment with his lineup, and no one knows what his final choice will be.

NOTRE DAME.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Coach Rockne gave an indication of the composition of next year's lineup working Tom Lieb at tackle against the freshmen in tonight's workout. Lieb played at full back in his freshman year and has subbed for Richard in the new tackle showed splendidly and may get his first chance against Marquette Saturday. The freshmen scored twice against the varsity stringing together the first and second halves. EXPECT BOARD TO SLASH CAR LINES' DIVIDE RATE

Commission Ends Hearing on Five Cent Fare.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The permissible dividend rate of the Chicago surface lines will be reduced by the Illinois commerce commission. The cut will probably be from 7 1/2 per cent—established by the old public utilities commission—to 6 per cent. The valuation on which the dividend may be earned will not be materially changed. That was fixed at $159,113,145 by the old commission for the year 1919. The new valuation, which the commission has not attacked that administration, and the only evidence before the commission is that presented by the companies, which claimed that the valuation should be increased approximately $20,000,000.

This increase will not be allowed by the commission. Under the terms of the franchise ordinance the companies are required to maintain a standing offer to sell their property at the capital account figure of about $160,000,000, despite the claim of the companies that their combined properties are now worth in excess of $220,000,000.

Arguments in Case Close.

These two main points were evident at the conclusion yesterday of the arguments in the street car fare hearing. James M. Sheehan in the morning presented the last word for the companies and Chester E. Cleveland Sr. finished for the city in the afternoon. Sheehan asserted that 5-cent fare would be confiscatory, which if correct—means that if the commission orders a nickel fare, the courts would prohibit its enforcement upon application of the companies.

Much to the disappointment of real friends of a 5-cent fare, Mr. Cleveland did not ask the commission for a final order for a permanent 5-cent fare. He only asked for a "temporary"—or, as he again phrased it, at another point in his argument—"an experimental" 5-cent fare.

Of course, that is not what Mayor William Hale Thompson and Gov. Len Small promised the car riders of Chicago, when the latter was a candidate for governor; nor was any reason placed in the record why Mr. Cleveland did not ask for a permanent 5-cent fare, without limitation, if he believed that the evidence he presented justified such a decree.

Looking Forward to Election?

However, over at the city hall a rumor was encountered which said that the Thompson-Lundin managers consider it more skillful craftsmanship to delay a request for a 5-cent fare until closer to the mayoralty election. If a reduction of 1 cent in the fare is made now the public can be convinced that the Thompson-Lundin managers can deliver the goods on car fares, so that later when the people are promised a cut from 7 to 5 cents they can be convinced that the organization can present the money, heretofore the prevailing report has been that the commerce commission would grant a 5-cent fare, but that was discarded yesterday.

The cut in the dividend rate is more apparent than real. While the companies were permitted by the old commission to earn 7 1/2 per cent, the companies have not been able to garner 7 1/2 per cent. But the commission has fixed 5 per cent for five other utilities and questions Chairman Smith asked clearly he personally believes that the rate should be reduced. Other commissioners hold the same view.

TWENTY TENANTS FIGHT EVICTION BY ELEVATED CO.

Charging that the announced plans of the elevated company to build a new station on the northeast corner of Wilson avenue and Broadway are "all bunk," twenty tenants of the property met last night in the office of H. O. Stone & Co. and prepared plans for an extensive legal fight against dispossession.

The tenants claim the company's move is to obtain rentals amounting to more than $15,000 yearly on the property. A ground lease was made in 1910 to Peter C. Stohr. Since then a sublease was given to the Broadway building corporation, which has in turn subleased to the individual tenants.

Under a clause in the original lease the railroad claims it has the right to take possession of the property for railroad purposes at any time. No notice was recently served on the tenants that this possession would take effect on Dec. 1.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In the automobile section of THE TRIBUNE OF NOV. 13 it was announced that the Illinois-Wisconsin highway right, and the country has had plenty of cheap corn, oats, and other feeds. Railroads are well equipped to bring in the fowl, as Christmas traffic is not yet under way.

Gus Woltman, manager of two south side groceries, said turkey might sell for about 50 cents a pound, which is approximately 8 cents less than last year. Chicken, ducks, and geese, he predicted, would retail a few cents higher than in 1920. He said the supply of these is not so great as of turkeys.

Miss Bayes and Some Others at the Apollo

BY SHEPPARD BUTLER.

MISS NORA BAYES, all in white and with lovely new hair, is at the Apollo this week, looking ten years younger than she did ten years ago. Among the entertainers, as distinguished from the players, she is one of the elect, and that she seems to have found the fountain of youth is cause for general congratulation.

She is an artist with a sure touch and a keen feeling for what the vaudeville public wants in the way of sugary sentiment and rollicking jaxtime. Her resonant voice is a marvelous organ, enormously effective in the vibrant timbre of its lower tones, and she uses it with telling effect.

It is a pity that she still sings trivial songs. Her present offering is composed entirely of inane doggerel set to mediocre tunes, but, with the pictorial assistance of some gorgeous fans and some good looking male assistants, she occupies her half hour to the complete satisfaction of her hearers, which, perhaps, is all that matters.

Also at the Apollo are:

Burt Shepherd—In whip cracking stunts, something like those of Fred Stone in "Tip-Top."

Hattie Althoff and Sister—Mannerly exercises in polite sycophancy.

"In Argentina"—A potpourri of this and that from South America, where, it seems, our old friend, the Apache dance, has just arrived in particularly violent form. This revival and a racy tango are the most spirited items of the entertainment. There are other dances, performed with much foot stamping and intermittent clowning by an American cutup, present for no apparent reason, since the rest of the company seems genuinely Argentinean.

Bob Nelson—A tall young man with a toothy smile, seeing how far he can go with songs of the "blue" variety.

Arturo Bernard—An old timer of minor varieties, with a trunkful of wigs and things which he changes with amazing dexterity.

Miss Marie Dressler and others in "Moments from the Winter Garden." After that, Miss Beadie McCoy Shubert vaudeville is improving.

PRICE OF TURKEY 'MODERATE' VIEW OF PRODUCE MAN

Among other bounties Chicagoans will have cause to be grateful for will be turkeys, said turkey dealers, and the country has had plenty of cheap corn, oats, and other feeds. Railroads are well equipped to bring in the fowl, as Christmas traffic is not yet under way.

Gus Woltman, manager of two south side groceries, said turkey might sell for about 50 cents a pound, which is approximately 8 cents less than last year. Chicken, ducks, and geese, he predicted, would retail a few cents higher than in 1920. He said the supply of these is not so great as of turkeys.

CITY CONSIDERS BARRING MOTOR BUS TO STATE ST.

Discussed as Means to Lessen Traffic Tangle.

Traffic congestion in the loop, particularly in State street, having reached a point where relief is imperative, city officials yesterday discussed the right of the Motor Bus company to route its machines north on State street from Jackson boulevard to Washington street.

The tremendous influx of early winter and Christmas shoppers, State street being torn up for repavement, motor buses dodging between street cars and automobiles, pedestrians dashing for cars and buses and miraculously escaping injury thereby, have given Capt. Patrick Lavin, in charge of traffic, food for thought.

Though, out of the chaos and confusion entailed, people, cars, automobiles, and buses manage somehow to extricate themselves from the jam with a minimum amount of injury and damage—though much loss of time—the advisability of a stub and on Michigan boulevard or some other loop arrangement for buses was considered yesterday by Capt. Lavin.

Questions His Authority.

"But have I the right to bar them from State street?" he queried.

Ald. Ulysses S. Schwartz, chairman of the local transportation committee, was asked.

"That's what I want to know, too," he replied. "Some six months ago the transportation committee passed a resolution directing the corporation counsel to furnish us with an opinion. Not getting it, a sub-committee took it up. We are still awaiting the information."

On Nov. 7, Ald. Thomas O. Wallace, chairman of the sub-committee, addressed the following letter to Corporation Counsel Etienne:

"Will you kindly render an opinion as to the rights under which auto companies may operate continuous service along specific roads upon the streets of the City of Chicago without any city ordinance governing such operation? I should appreciate an early opinion in this matter."

Company Ready to Cooperate.

George D. Crowley, secretary of the Motor Bus company was asked the views of the management upon the company's right to operate on State street.

"We have but one aim," he replied, "and that is to give the public the best brand of service possible. To do this we will give close attention to any plan helpful to traffic relief."

Turning around on Michigan boulevard or making a left hand turn into Grant Park for a stub end would paralyze Michigan boulevard. In addition, passengers would have to cross the boulevard to board a bus. During rush hours that is nearly impossible.

"When north and south traffic is stopped it is sometimes easy for people to get as far as the safety island. The city ordinance governing such operation would be a hindrance to the boulevard from the east and west streets permits one to go no further. The whistle is blown and northbound machines released. This makes the east half of the boulevard practically impassable for long periods."

Seek Convenience of Passengers.

"That is one of the reasons we go to State street for loading. Also most of our passengers come from State street and west of it. While it might be no hardship for them to walk to Michigan, it is far more to their convenience to have the buses come to State street for them for the reasons I have stated."

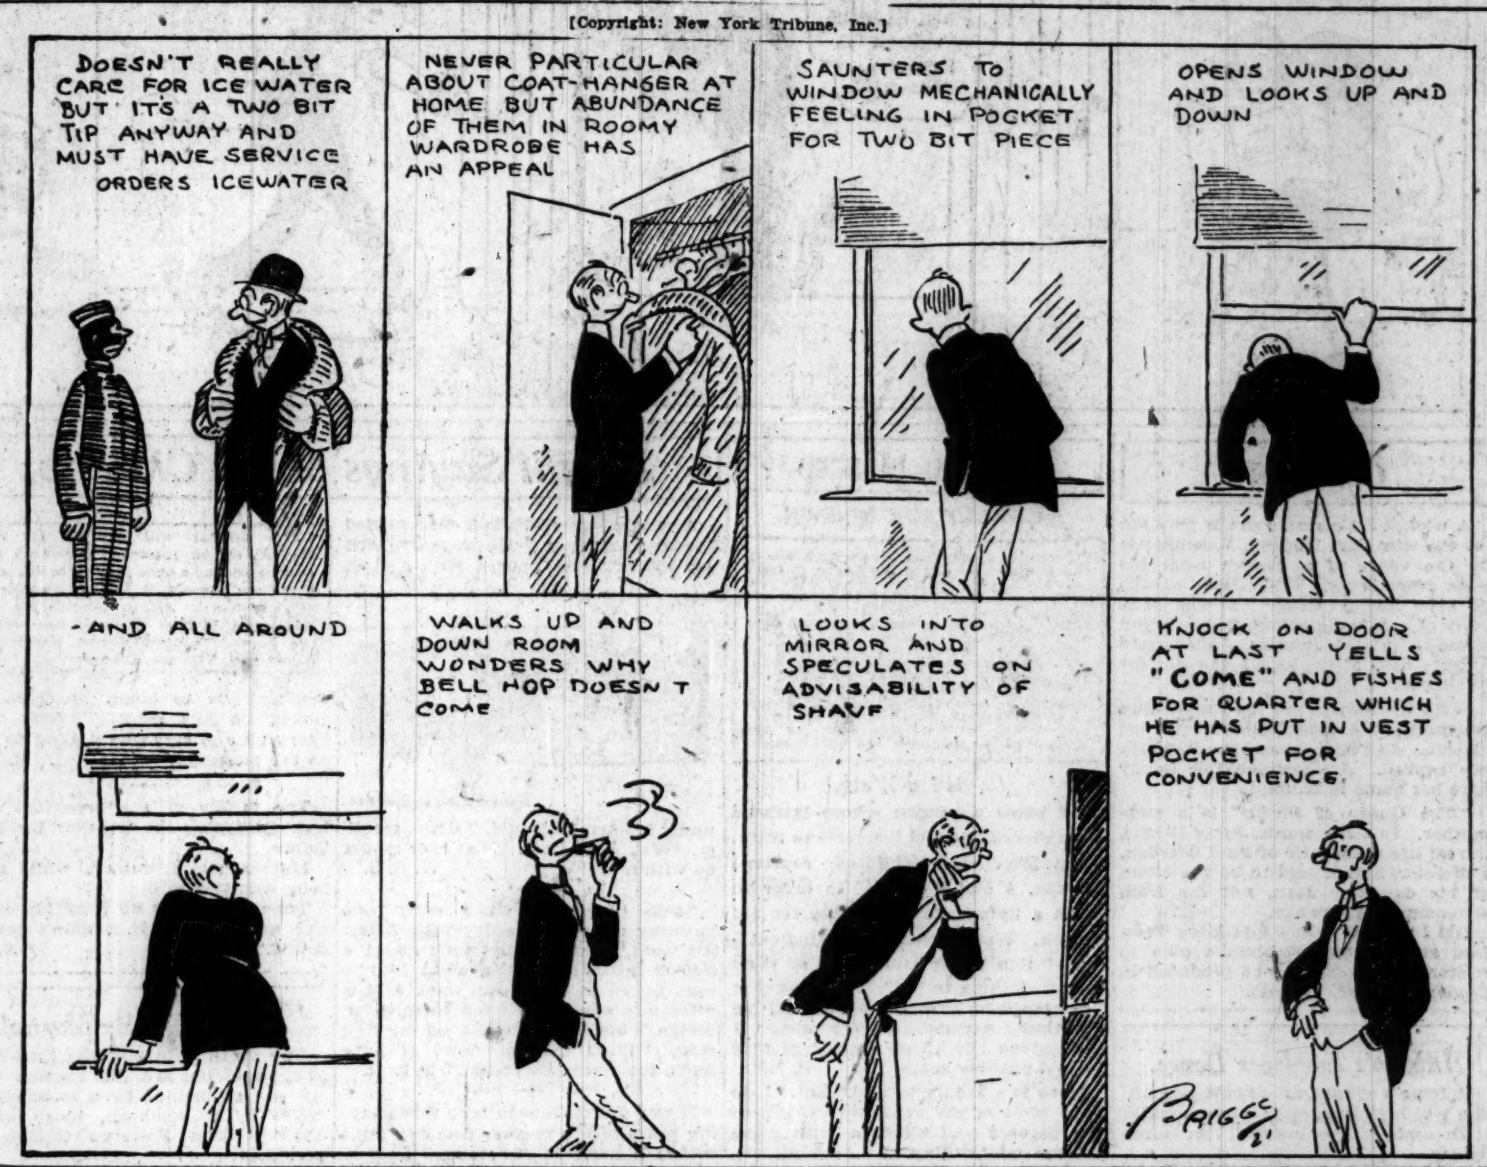

"We operate under a certificate of convenience and necessity granted by the old public utilities commission, now the commerce commission, and a franchise from the Lincoln Park board to use the boulevard."

An opinion was requested of David Clark, of counsel for the Motor Bus company. He said:

"The city possesses police power to regulate traffic. We may be compelled to comply with any reasonable regulations, but we have a right to the streets."

It was said by Mr. Crowley that next spring the company expects to put in operation a bus system on the south side, and instead of looping and turning back in the business district, to throughout the business district. Also lines are contemplated. Meanwhile, with the blocking of parts of State street by the repaving work, the congestion to which the Motor Buses contribute, remains a problem of the moment.

TEDIOUS PASTIMES—WAITING FOR THE BELLHOP TO FETCH ICE WATER

HER PHANTOM LOVER BY ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

ANDREW FINDS A WAY.

Crystal and Ted, who streamed out with the crowd, hurried around to fetch the bicycles, and were half way back to West Court before Drake had even left the police station. Luck was with them all along that day for a pleasant change. Doria had accepted the statement that they had gone fishing, or said they were going fishing, and their presence in Rockport escaped comment.

No one was more relieved when they got safely back and returned the borrowed machines than the second footman. He had had a nervous morning, rendered doubly uncomfortable by the fact that Evelyn May, otherwise Misses, seriously resented his having loaned her bicycle without permission and for such a clandestine purpose.

By this time the entire domestic staff was in the secret of Crystal's love affair with a Westhaven workman. The secret had not leaked out. It had come with the velocity of water poured through a colander. Martin Drake had shouted it all over the house, and Doria had confided it to her pet Duggan, who passed it on to the housekeeper, from whence it descended rapidly and took not more than half an hour to reach the stable lads. One and all they were horrified, with the possible exception of the sentimental second footman.

"I've simply got to see Andrew," Crystal moaned, as Ted and she moped about the deck of the houseboat after lunch.

Drake had not come back. He was probably at Westhaven's holding an unofficial examination of the chief culprit. Doria had gone over to Southbeach to have tea with the woman she hated. She knew that she ought not to leave Crystal alone in the company of her thoroughly untrustworthy son, but Crystal refused point blank to come with her, and she was utterly bored with the whole thing, anyway.

"I don't see how you're going to manage it," Ted said, in reply to Crystal's moan. "He'll be at the works until six. Shall I go in and see him for you?"

"It wouldn't be the same thing," Crystal objected. "I want I know who Uncle Martin means to do with me."

"Act quickly and frantically," advised Ted.

But if by that meant an elopement, Crystal was not at the present moment having any. She had turned a little sulky. The first cloud had appeared to darken the bright sky of young love. Opposition she had expected, but not this spectacular introduction of a rival. She simply couldn't get Letty Price out of her mind's eye.

It is true that Mrs. Crouch's impromptu bit of evidence had done a little to soften the blow, but not much. It was hateful to think there had ever been another girl in Andrew's life. Perhaps he had even kissed that girl. Poor Crystal was suffering terribly. She was simply no good at all to Ted that afternoon.

Her depression communicated itself to him. He began to think he should not be at all sorry when the holidays were over, and to wish that he had taken his mother's advice and invited some one of his own age and sex to share the attractions of West Court with him. She wouldn't let him have Andrew, and, of course, that was altogether out of the question now. Next week Andrew's brief holiday began.

"Life's a bit of a washout, isn't it?" he observed dolefully.

It was most unusual for him to be in low spirits. Crystal had a pad on her knee and her attitude aroused a spark of interest in him. How funny she looked. First she would moisten the pencil with the tip of her tongue and then scribble a few words. Then, after gazing into space with an imbecile expression, most likely she'd scratch over what she had written and begin again, all the time muttering furiously.

"For the love of Mike, Crystal, what are you doing?" Ted's curiosity got the better of him at last.

"Writing a poem," Crystal replied absently. "What rhymes with 'silver'?"

"That's a chestnut. Nothing, of course. Everybody knows that."

Crystal was vexed. She had to alter the whole of the line. "I can write poetry on me head," Ted boasted. "Come on. I'll race you. See who's finished first. Give me a sheet of paper. What shall we write about? Let's do the court-room scene this morning. Blank verse is easier. Shall we write a play together? Crystal, in blank verse?"

But Crystal doused his enthusiasm. She wanted to write her poem alone and in her own time. In fact, she hinted that she even preferred to write it in her own company.

"O, well, you're not worth a bean to anybody," Ted said crossly. "If you want me you'll jolly well whistle your head off before I'll come."

He loitered a little, hoping she would call him back, but she didn't. Then the idea came to him to go into Rockport to see Mr. Barry. He would walk in, get covered with dust, and be terribly tired, and then when his mother asked him how he happened to be in such a condition it would lead straight to the question of the locked shed where his bicycle was imprisoned. He was pretty certain old Drake hadn't told his mother about playing that scurvy trick.

Crystal was glad to be left alone—that is to say, as much as any one with such sad thoughts could be glad. She sat a forlorn little figure on the deck of the houseboat, abandoned poetry, and decided that soon she might be going to weep.

And there sat Andrew Crouch in his new motor skiff having turned off the engine some distance out and paddled in, hugging the shore closely until he came abreast of the houseboat.

"I saw you through the glasses. You're alone, aren't you?" he called up in a low voice.

Crystal's heart beat violently. She hadn't dreamed of anything so wonderful as this.

"Yes, I'm alone. Tie up your boat and I'll come down. You can get in from the water side through a window."

She ran down to the cabin, which was close and stuffy though not being used except to store the deck furniture when the weather was bad.

Andrew hoisted himself through the window which she opened for him and landed on the floor with the springy ease of a cat.

"Is your forehead badly hurt?" Crystal asked, eying the bandage fearfully.

"No. I fell on a piece of broken glass, that's all. I—I suppose you've heard all about the beastly business."

Crystal nodded, holding herself a little aloof.

"Ted and I were in the court this morning," she announced to Andrew's dismay. "We sneaked off. Neither Lady Westhaven nor Uncle Martin knows we were there. We—we heard everything. O, Andrew, how could you!"

ACCUSED "GOSSIP" SHOOTS TWO WHO DEFEND WOMAN

John J. Stetz, 1911 West 17th street, last night shot and seriously wounded William Donurat and Andrew Kleg, 4439 Austin avenue, when the latter sought to make Stetz apologize for remarks he had made against Mrs. Donurat. Donurat is not expected to live.

According to the police Stetz, a cousin of Mrs. Donurat, told Donurat his suspicions of too great intimacy between the woman and Kleg, the Donurats' star boarder.

FARM AND GARDEN ASPARAGUS NEEDS FINAL TOUCHES FOR WINTER.

Treatment given asparagus beds at this time of the year determines to some extent the quality of tips cut next spring. Little attention is needed until plants are mature. The red berries that form indicate that plants are ready for winter and the final stage of maturity has been reached.

The berries serve as a signal. Where there is no danger of the plants being injured by deep freezes gardeners cut them down as soon as the berries turn red. This year much of the asparagus was diseased and if the old dead stems and branches were infected they should be destroyed. The surest way of getting rid of diseases is to burn the plants. Burning in the fall is advisable in fairly warm sections, but in this region where the mercury drops to a dangerous point it is probably best to allow the tops to stand until early spring. When the old tops are not cut they protect the underground portion of the plants by holding the snow—preventing deep freezing and blowing of the soil.

Heaving of the soil is prevented by stirring the bed and then covering it with a layer of fresh manure before the ground freezes. Some throw a small ridge over the plants, but this is not necessary.

It takes a rich soil to grow tender tips. If the plants have not done well this season transplant them in the spring. Prepare the bed this fall. Throw on a heavy layer of well decomposed manure and spade it in before the ground freezes.

MUNDAY FREED; PLANS TO REPAY DUPED INVESTORS

Banker, Health Broken, Serves 11 Months.

Broken in health, but happy as a schoolboy over his release, Charles E. Munday, vice president of the wrecked La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, arrived in Chicago yesterday a free man, after serving only a eleven months of a three year sentence at Joliet.

The La Salle Street bank closed its doors in 1914. After a six year fight in which Munday and former Senator Lorimer, his associate, had been much on a charge of wrecking the bank. Application for parole was made immediately and granted at the earliest legal opportunity. It is said Munday was in the hospital from the time he arrived at Joliet until his release.

From Millions to Poverty.

Munday left the penitentiary before dawn yesterday and arrived at his home at 4502 Woodlawn avenue in the early morning. Although once worth $1,000,000, his friends say he returns a poor man.

The effect of prison confinement on the once corpulent banker was apparent. His clothes, which once had extended past his feet, were now said he had lost seventy pounds during the eleven months of confinement.

"I'm mighty glad to be back, boys," he said, sinking down in a comfortable chair. "You'll never know what a terrible thing it is to go to prison until you get there."

"What are you going to do that you are out?" he was asked.

Plans to Pay Investors.

"I'm going to get well first. Then I'm going to go to work to pay back every cent lost by investors in the bank. I want to pay them all, and I'll pay them if I live long enough. I want to see every man paid and my family provided for before I die."

"Are you going to reënter the banking business?"

"No, sir," he declared, emphatically. "I never was a banker. I never worked a day in a bank, and I'm going to stay away from that kind of work the rest of my life. It was a mistake that I ever was connected with the bank."

"As soon as I am able I shall go to work to reopen the mills at Litchfield. That's the kind of work I know and the kind of work I can make good at. All I ask now is a chance to work."

The release was greeted with indignation by Edgwin J. Rober, the assistant state's attorney who prosecuted him.

"Munday was the most vicious bank wrecker Chicago has known," he said. "He was a tyrant. He forced the other bank officers to commit crimes by threats of many kinds. If he is entitled to his freedom on the minimum time, then every banker in the country who has been convicted is entitled to freedom on the same terms."

Charged with Taking Millions.

Munday was one of Senator Lorimer's political backers in 1909. The next year the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank was organized with Lorimer as president. After Lorimer lost his seat in the senate, Munday gradually obtained control of the institution. The testimony at the trial, at which both Lorimer and Munday were tried, was that Munday had duped depositors out of millions of dollars.

Munday was paroled to Edward H. Harrison, a public accountant, 33 South Dearborn street.

Police Hunt Man Who Annoyed U. of C. Girl

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question

The Question.

Do you think the presence of armed United States marines on a mail train will prevent robberies?

Where Asked.

Madison and Dearborn streets.

The Answer.

J. Statnam, 22 Quincy street, broker.

—Why shouldn't they prevent them? I know if I was a robber I wouldn't try it. I'm afraid these marines would treat one like they treated the Germans in the world war.

Miss Gertrude Borenstein, 50th street, bookkeeper.

—It was a wonderful idea. A lot of these robbers are cowards and would run at the sight of a gun. The uniform would make them stop and think before they tried a holdup.

Patrick Mahoney, 91 Depot street, West Chicago, fireman.

If they put more than two marines on every car, say four or five, it would be the thing. But if five bandits come up to two marines I don't think they'd have a chance.

Miss Bernice Goldsmith, 5647 Prairie avenue, publisher.

I think the marines will prevent robberies somewhat, but I also think that mail workers should be well armed. The idea of marines being on the trains would have something to do with stopping robberies.

Thomas McAleese, 99 Depot street, West Chicago, bridge repairman.

Why shouldn't they stop the robberies—they stopped the Hun! Any one who would walk up to an armed marine in order to shoot is crazy.

FARM AND GARDEN ASPARAGUS NEEDS FINAL TOUCHES FOR WINTER.

Treatment given asparagus beds at this time of the year determines to some extent the quality of tips cut next spring. Little attention is needed until plants are mature. The red berries that form indicate that plants are ready for winter and the final stage of maturity has been reached.

The berries serve as a signal. Where there is no danger of the plants being injured by deep freezes gardeners cut them down as soon as the berries turn red. This year much of the asparagus was diseased and if the old dead stems and branches were infected they should be destroyed. The surest way of getting rid of diseases is to burn the plants. Burning in the fall is advisable in fairly warm sections, but in this region where the mercury drops to a dangerous point it is probably best to allow the tops to stand until early spring. When the old tops are not cut they protect the underground portion of the plants by holding the snow—preventing deep freezing and blowing of the soil.

Heaving of the soil is prevented by stirring the bed and then covering it with a layer of fresh manure before the ground freezes. Some throw a small ridge over the plants, but this is not necessary.

It takes a rich soil to grow tender tips. If the plants have not done well this season transplant them in the spring. Prepare the bed this fall. Throw on a heavy layer of well decomposed manure and spade it in before the ground freezes.

Kinsolving Musical Series Opens with Excellent Program BY EDWARD MOORE.

The Kinsolving musical mornings began a new season in the Crystal room of the Blackstone hotel yesterday morning with a joint recital by Alice Kinsolving, mezzo-soprano, and Amy Neill, violinist.

Miss Gentle, well remembered as the cause of many pleasant operatic happenings at Ravinia in summers past, demonstrated that she is quite as good a singer of songs as of roles. She has acquired in selecting songs that are both entertaining and brief, and the dramatic ability that makes her notable in opera is equally apt in portraying lyric moods.

Also, her voice is quite as persuasive with a piano accompaniment as with that of an orchestra, and she knows how to sing the English language. Consequently, she scored high.

So did Miss Neill, a ranking artist of the violin in any ever lived. With all the tone and technique that any one needs, every time she plays here she uncovers a bit more of music personality. She is a splendid player now, and the end is not yet.

In the evening Maurice Dumesnil, pianist, made his first Chicago appearance in a recital at Kimball hall. A visit there between acts of the opera disclosed a group of fairly unfamiliar numbers, of which the last was a "Rhapsodie Argentine," by M. Gomez Carrillo, founded on themes of the South American republic.

It was evident that the guitar is a favorite instrument in Argentina, more so than any desire for moving melody. Mr. Dumesnil is a capable pianist, with functioning brain and intelligent fingers. In a more entertaining way he would probably have made a good success. He did anyway—as a pianist.

Kewanee Club in Panama Toll Protest

Kewanee, Ill., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—In a discussion of an editorial in yesterday's CHICAGO TRIBUNE on Panama canal tolls exemption before the Rotary club of Kewanee speakers unanimously expressed approval of the sentiment expressed therein to the effect that midwest organizations should let their attitude be known at Washington.

It was pointed out by H. D. Cherry, traffic manager of the Kewanee Boiler company, that freight rates from Atlantic ports to the Pacific coast by way of the canal on boilers are $1.50 and on radiators 90 cents, while all rail rates from Kewanee to the Pacific coast are $2.50 on boilers and $1.50 on radiators, showing the great advantage to eastern manufacturers. With exemption of tolls industry of the middle west will suffer still greater discrimination, it was declared.

IT'S BEARS' DAY IN WHEAT MARKET; ALL PRICES OFF

BY CHARLES MICHAELS

Bearish influences predominated in the wheat market and at no time until just before the close was there more than a 1/2% rally. The undertone was heavy from the start, when highest prices were made, and at the inside they showed 1/2% to 3/4% under the high of the previous day, with the close on a rally of 1/4% to 1/2%, with net losses of 1/2% to 3/4%, with May leading. Removal of 100,000 bushels of cash wheat at the seaboard advanced December 1/2% at the last, while May was unchanged. Oats closed 1/2% and rye 3/4% lower.

Strong commission houses, headed by those with eastern connections, and brokers who generally act for the leading interest, were good sellers of wheat and found support lacking until toward the close. There was rather persistent buying of December and selling of May, and December finished 1/2% under May, against 1/2% under recently.

Scattered liquidation was in the northwest, which had considerable influence here. Duluth was nominally 1/2% lower at one time, but no sales of futures were made there. The closing rally was due to evening up on the part of the pit element and on buying of wheat by commission houses. Houses with seaboard connections bought a little December early.

Export Business Light. Liverpool was weak and 1/2% lower and there was a lack of aggressive export business throughout the day, final sales being estimated at 250,000 to 300,000 bushels. Japan was understood to have cancelled a cargo of hard winter wheat at the Gulf, presumably the same cargo reported resold Monday, while Pacific coast messages said there was future buying for rice on a small account.

Official notice has been given that Spain will not permit the importation of wheat shipped after Nov. 8. Argentine crop reports continue favorable and harvesting will commence in the more advanced sections in about two weeks. The break to the low point was on a report of new crop Argentine wheat being sold at 1/2% Liverpool at equal to 1/2% under domestic.

Domestic milling demand was spotted with Kansas City reporting the bulk of light receipts there carried over since while at Minneapolis premiums were unchanged. Continued dry weather reports from the southwest and tightness in the December at Chicago, combined with the limited arrivals, were the main bullish influences, but they attracted little attention.

Cash December Corn Active. Cash houses were active buyers of December corn to remove hedges against sales of around 300,000 bu. by seaboard exporters, partly for winter storage, and with limited pressure and light country offerings the price averaged higher, closing at 46¢ after selling at 47¢ early. May was easy, but the strength in the December offered weakness in wheat. Sales of cash corn in all positions in the west the last two days were estimated at as high as 1,500,000 bu., but in some quarters this figure was regarded as too high. Export bids were on the basis of 1/2% over Chicago December for No. 2 mixed, 1/2% for No. 3, and 1/2% for No. 4.

Oats were dull and easy in sympathy with wheat. Trade was mainly local. Scattered liquidation was on in rye, and December closed 1/2% under the May. Lard Prices Go Up.

Liquidation by scattered holders was on in provisions early and carried all deliveries off to a new low for the season, while packers and shorts bought and good rally came toward the last, with the finish around the top with net gains of 1/2% to 3/4%. Ribs were unchanged to 1/2% lower. Cash demand was slow with sales of 75,000 lbs loose lard at 8¢ and 50,000 lbs leaf at 8¢. Prices followed:
